Believe Balanced Budget In Sight

Economists Credit Rise In Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising prosperity may balance President Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget even if Congress doesn't vote the extra revenue he wants.

A record 50-billion-dollar total of corporation profits is in sight this year, government economists said Saturday. That is three billion dollars more than the budget-makers estimated in January.

The Treasury will take about half the gain, at the 52 per cent tax rate on corporate earnings. This would add 1½ billion dollars to revenues in the fiscal year starting July 1, substantially more than Eisenhower asked in higher taxes, postal rates, and fees.

Congress could easily tip the scales into a deficit. But its Democratic leaders seem increasingly anxious to repudiate the "spender" label, and Eisenhower's aides have become correspondingly more hopeful.

One administration economist believes 1960 profits may reach 50 to 51 billion dollars, about 5 billion above any previous year.

"The budget prospects look very good right now," the economist recently told a reporter.

The striking improvement in jobs in March and April suggests that wage earners, as well as business managers, may pay more taxes than the Treasury expected of them.

The budget anticipated about 34¾ billion dollars in personal income tax collections in the fiscal year starting July 1. This was based on the estimated 374 billion dollars of personal income in this calendar year.

Many critics in January called that an unrealistic guess because the income rate then was only about 360 billion and joblessness had stayed disturbingly high despite the otherwise notable recovery of business activity.

Then April brought a drop in unemployment and a rise in employment about twice the normal size for the season. In March and April alone employment gained 2¾ million, and unemployment dropped by 1,100,000.

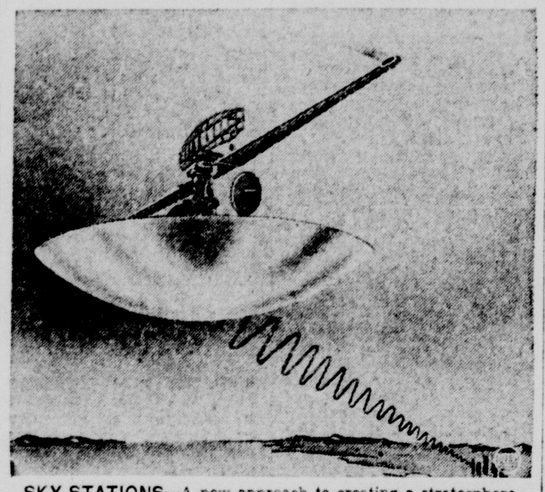

Since every billion dollars of income adds about 150 million dollars to income tax collections, the Treasury could benefit appreciably by these lengthening payrolls and fattening paychecks, although less handsomely than from the spectacular climb of corporate profits.

Officially the administration has not changed its January budget estimates—77 billion dollars of spending, with receipts matching that total and leaving a scant 70 million dollar surplus.

The Treasury and Budget Bureau are not expected to revise the estimates until they issue the midyear budget review in September. By then Congress presumably will have stopped appropriating, gone home, and won't be around to spend any extra revenues that turn up.

But Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson has hinted that he expects improvement. In his April 30 speech to the annual meeting of The Associated Press, he said: "Today I believe there is even more evidence to support this (77 billion dollar revenue) estimate than there was last January."

This clashed with an earlier estimate of the House Ways and Means Committee staff that revenues would fall more than a billion dollars short of Eisenhower's goal.

SKY STATIONS—A new approach to creating a stratosphere station has been proposed. It would be kept aloft with energy rays beamed from earth. Drawing depicts saucer-like platform. Rotor keeping it hovering in thin air layer would be powered by a heat engine. Microwaves beamed to it would be converted to heat in much the same way as an electric stove element converts electricity to heat. Under development by Raytheon, the stations could be used for missile detection, long-range communication, navigational and meteorological aids, surveillance and TV transmission.

Scientists Call For More Atom Smashers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call went up Saturday for the government to increase vastly its support and development of giant atom-smashing machines holding promise of yielding "numerous and fantastic" results.

By 1963, it was stated, the government should more than double its present support of research with such devices. These are used to explore the sub-atomic world as a part of research which already has "had profound effects upon our technology, our national security, and even our daily living."

The urgent call, and reasons for it, came from a group of scientists representing two of the nation's most powerful science advisory committees.

Their recommendations would mean upping from 5 million dollars to 135 million the nation's present annual outlay for atom-smashers, also known as particle accelerators.

These machines are science's heavy artillery for exploring the basic nature of matter of which the whole universe is composed.

Calling for at least two larger machines than the nation now has —including one that would be two miles long—the group declared:

"The practical results that must derive from continued exploration with larger accelerators can not be guessed. If the past is a guide they will be numerous and fantastic. The one thing we have learned to expect from nature is to be surprised."

The proposal was made by a special panel appointed by President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee and the General Advisory Committee to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The release by the White House of two 4,000-word reports by the group came two days after President Eisenhower in a New York speech strongly backed one of the detailed proposals contained in the report.

This recommendation was that the United States foot the bill for a project proposed by Stanford University—the building of a 100-million-dollar, two-mile-long linear accelerator. This device would be the world's most powerful version of this particular type of atom-smasher, with an ultimate designed atom-smashing capability of 45-billion electron volts.

7 Teenagers Die In Car, Train Collision

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—A carload of eight young people leaving a high school dance collided with a speeding train early Saturday. Seven died and one was critically injured.

Hours after the Chicago-to-New Orleans passenger train popped the car open like a paper bag, identification of the victims lagged and parents of scores of youngsters not home yet made frantic inquiries.

The car was struck at a dirt road grade crossing two miles north of Mattoon by the Illinois Central's "Louisiana." Victims were flung up to 150 feet. Wreckage was carried one fourth of a mile.

Unrecognizable bodies were identified by initials on class rings. Friends of the victims said they were enroute from the Shelbyville High School prom to a post dance party.

Six were killed outright. They were Irene Moon, 16; Judy Keen, 18; Loraine Pfeiffer, 17, and her brother, Lisle, 18, and Jerry Hill, 18, all of Shelbyville 20 miles east of Mattoon in east central Illinois, and Jerry Hayes, 19, of Woodlawn, about 100 miles to the south.

Dorothy Thomas, 18, of Shelbyville, died of injuries in a Mattoon hospital a few hours after the crash. The sole survivor was Alvin Ivan Moon, 22, brother of Irene.

Moon and Hayes were University of Illinois students.

Many in the farming town of Shelbyville, population 5,000, where all but one of the victims lived, were stunned by the tragedy.

Authorities said the railroad crossing had no signal lights or automatic signs.

Coles County deputy sheriffs said they were unable to determine if the driver of the car, Alvin Moon, was racing the train to the crossing or was unable to see it bearing down on them.

Moon recovered consciousness late Saturday afternoon in a Mattoon Hospital. Authorities did not plan to question him about the crash until his condition improves.

The full extent of Moon's injuries had not been determined. However a skull fracture apparently was the most serious injury.

Deputy Coroner J. E. Caudill of Coles County said he hoped to have a statement Sunday from the train's engineer, William Ward, Champaign. Caudill said no date has been set for the inquest.

The dark side road where the crash occurred, two miles north of Mattoon, was a popular short cut for drivers in six counties in the vicinity.

C. R. Fegley, principal of the Shelbyville High School where the prom was held, said there was no evidence any of the youngsters had been drinking.

Carl Moon, father of Alvin, said: "My boy is a careful driver. He didnt drink and he didnt let anyone else drive his car. And he certainly wouldn't have driven carelessly with his sister in the car."

Irene Moon, 16, a Shelbyville High School junior, was one of the victims.

Bear Hunt Is On; Palace Guard Needs New Hats

TIMMONS, Ont. (AP)—Hunters went out into the bush Saturday trying for bearskins to make new hats for the Buckingham Palace guard. The bears were making themselves scarce.

Only one bear was spotted in the first six hours after 75 hunters assembled at Kamiscotta, 18 miles northwest of here, and he got away.

The hunters, sporting old army rifles and some venerable German 8-mms, were led by Mayor Leo Del Villano and accompanied by Lt Col. Pat Carmichael, a representative of the British Ministry of Supply. They went out in groups of five or six.

The mayor organized the hunt after reading that the big, black imperial shakos were getting a little moth eaten and ragged. This would hardly do for the spit-and-polish guards who are one of London's biggest tourist attractions. The Ministry of Supply, which takes care of the bearskins for the guards, said it would buy any the mayor could find.

Dulles Growing Weaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles is reportedly growing weaker.

The 71-year-old former secretary of state contracted pneumonia a week ago after weeks of treatment for cancer that has spread in his body. He has been a patient at Walter Reed Army Hospital here since Feb. 12, except for a brief rest in Florida.

The State Department, which Friday reported a further decline in his condition, said Saturday there was no further change. The department said medical bulletins will be issued only if Dulles' condition changes.

Three members of the family who live elsewhere were reported in the city Saturday. They are a son, John Dulles, an engineer in Mexico City; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, New York City; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Edwards, Rye, N. Y.

Other members of the family in addition to Mrs. Dulles are another son, Avery, a Jesuit priest; Dulles' brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; and his sister, Eleanor, a State Department specialist on Germany.

Dulles' cancer condition dates back to 1956, when he underwent surgery for a malignant growth in the colon. Last February Army doctors found the cancer had recurred when they operated on him for a hernia.

In the following weeks the secretary was given massive radiation treatments with a Giant X-ray machine and by injections of radioactive gold.

He left the hospital early in April for Florida. The sojourn was cut short and he returned to the hospital April 12.

Doctors then reported evidence the cancer had spread to his lower neck.

Nikita Opens Prospect Of Serious Negotiations

Khrushchev Blasts West's Package Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Saturday the Western plan for Germany laid down at Geneva "contains some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose."

But in a Kremlin speech accepting the Lenin Peace Prize, he called the western proposal a "so-called peace plan" because there was no peace behind it. He accused the West at Geneva of trying to provoke the Soviet Union into sharp criticism.

"This is done in order to make us shoulder the responsibility, to accuse us of being obdurate," Khrushchev said.

"But we shall not give our partners this pleasure. We shall not follow this course but will on the contrary explain that by this means it is impossible to achieve the liquidation of the cold war.

"The proposal of the Western powers contains some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose. On the contrary, we shall be prepared to seek solutions at the round table.

"But questions must be taken separately and not tied together, as is being done by the Western powers, into one big knot which cannot be untied.

"It is primarily necessary to separate the question of the conclusion of a peace treaty with the two German states and on this basis solve the Berlin question by turning Berlin into a free city."

Thus Khrushchev returned to the Soviet position of separate peace treaties with East and West Germany, an idea rejected by the West. The West wants a single treaty with a reunited Germany and would unite East and West Berlin as the capital.

"The plans of the West cannot be accepted even by themselves," Khrushchev told his Kremlin audience. "No one of them wants the reunification of Germany.

"The real author of these plans is not in Geneva. The shadow of Adenauer is there."

This was a reference to the Soviet charge that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany is blocking the way to a German settlement.

Khrushchev described the ending of the cold war as the most urgent problem facing the world and said a halt of nuclear tests was an important first step.

He said the Soviet Union, Japan and the European powers know what war is like from experience on their own soil.

"The American people are not aware of what war is," the Premier said. "They know it only from newspapers and films, but now the American people are joining together to avert the threat of a nuclear war. They know it can happen on their own territory, and they can't hide from it."

Herter To Propose Secret Diplomacy

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened up Saturday a prospect of serious negotiations between the Soviet Union and the Western powers at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

In a speech in Moscow, Khrushchev rebuffed the Western package plan approach to a German peace settlement and disarmament.

But he added "The proposals of the Western powers contain some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose. On the contrary, we shall be prepared to seek solutions at the round table."

The statement came as Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was reported planning to propose secret diplomacy for the next phase of the talks here. Herter has decided that is the best way to probe real Soviet aims here and find out whether it is possible to make enough progress toward agreement to justify a summit conference.

Khrushchev said the Western peace plan "is put forward only for one purpose, to put the blame on us. They wont have that pleasure."

The Soviet leader declared that the real author of the Western proposals is not in Geneva. Referring to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he said: "The shadow of Adenauer is there."

Herter made known his views to close associates after watching initial sessions of the conference which opened here Monday. He considers the sessions much too big and formal, with ministers making speeches at each other instead of negotiating.

The work of the conference, moreover, is approaching the point for what diplomats call private discussions. That means resort to a limited secret diplomacy with a sharp reduction of public disclosure about what is being discussed.

The basic proposals of the West and the Soviet Union for a German peace settlement have been presented to the parley by Herter and Gromyko and are under study. They could hardly be more opposed. The result is deadlock.

To come to grips with such matters as this, Herter probably will propose in midweek that the talks be made much more informal, conducted with greater secrecy, and attended by about a dozen ministers and top advisers instead of the present total of about 100. German advisers would not be present.

Before that, however, U.S. officials said there will have to be further debate on the contradictory Western and Soviet proposals put forward Thursday and Friday.

The conference is in recess until Monday. Herter made a flying good-will visit to Rome, and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville spent the week-

Lloyd and Couve de Murville were reported to favor the secret end in Paris for talks with President Charles de Gaulle and other officials. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd worked here.

Report Seaway Already A Boon To Grain Farmers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The establishment of Chicago as an inland port on the St. Lawrence Seaway already has proved a boon to Midwest grain farmers, the State Agriculture Department announced Saturday.

Director Stillman Stanard said costs of shipping grain to foreign ports has been greatly reduced, and cited the example of the Chicago-to-Rotterdam run.

The current shipping rate via the new seaway from Chicago to Rotterdam is 24 cents a bushel, he said, roughly nine cents less than last year before the deep draft locks were opened.

The first ocean-going vessel to load grain in Chicago left the port with 197,368 bushels of Midwest corn bound for Rotterdam, he reported. And, he added, the vessel—the Charles L. D.—probably could have carried an additional 150,000 bushels if the Welland Canal were equipped to handle freighters with greater than 27-foot draft.

"While this reduction (in shipping costs) is a tremendous stimulant to the grain market of the Midwest," Stanard said, "it is only the first step toward a healthy commerce in our agriculture products."

Coed's Eyesight Threatened By Chemical Burns

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—A doctor held out hope Saturday that the disfigured face of a coed splashed with searing silver nitrate can be repaired with plastic surgery.

But he said the condition of her burned eyes still is undetermined.

Seared when a male student threw the chemical on her in what the youth called "a joke that backfired" is Shelia Rene Nelms, 20, a Colorado City, Tex., junior at North Texas State College here.

Slender Tommy Ray Lester, 19, Corsicana, Tex., charged with aggravated assault on the coed, is free on $1,500 bond. Maximum penalty on the dismeanor charge is a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Dr. Bert Davis said Miss Nelms had showed improvement.

"She probably will be able to see fairly good with the left eye, but the right eye still is in question," he said. "Only time will tell how badly she is hurt."

The searing chemical was thrown on her as she left a party Thursday night at the apartment of a student at the college. It burned her eyes, face, neck and breasts.

Solons Get Set For Debate On FEPC Bills This Week

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Two issues of widespread interest — discrimination against minorities in hiring practices, and abuses by labor unions—will come to a head in the Illinois House this week.

Bills dealing with these problems have been set for some form of consideration after the House comes back in session Tuesday, and the accompanying debate promises to be lively.

Fair employment practices legislation, a perennial loser in the Legislature, will be called for passage, its sponsors have said. But House passage—a virtual certainty—will be merely a prelude to a bitter struggle in the Senate, for years the graveyard of FEPC proposals.

A dramatic overture by Democrats to scrap their FEPC bill in favor of an almost identical measure by Rep. William Robinson (R-Chicago) is expected to highlight Robinson's passage call. His bill has the backing of Gov. Stratton, and therefore the best chance of success in the Senate.

A far less favorable reception has been forecast for a move by Rep. Harold Widmer (R-Freeport), author of a bill empowering courts to act in cases of coercive or "racket" picketing. Widmer will take an unusual step Tuesday when he asks the House to discharge the labor committee from further consideration of his bill.

The Widmer bill has not yet been acted upon by the committee, and normally, sponsors wait until unfavorable committee action has been taken before moving to discharge.

In the Senate, an interesting duel between two masters of parliamentary technique will continue to run its course, with the fate of a proposed engineering degree program for Southern Illinois University at stake.

Sen. R. G. Crisenberry (R-Murphysboro), frequently an ally of Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph), succeeded last week in advancing an SIU bill to passage stage, while Peters watched and waited.

Peters, legislative patron of the University of Illinois, is ready to muster his opposition forces if Crisenberry should push for passage—and final legislative clearance—this week.

In an attempt to revive his bill guaranteeing a $1 hourly minimum wage in Illinois, Sen. John Lewis (R-Marshall) will seek to override the unfavorable recommendation of the Senate Industrial Affairs Committee. The bill, killed in committee, would be permanently tabled unless Lewis took the action.

Also in the Senate, Stratton's proposals for widespread reorganization of his executive (code) departments by consolidating them from 15 to 11, will receive their first legislative airing Thursday at a public hearing of the executive committee. The reorganization bills, proposed by Stratton in his opening message to the Legislature, will be amended to meet objections raised by department heads and others involved in the agencies, spokesmen said.

Administration leaders also disclosed they intend to scrap a Stratton proposal to permit the attorney general to take action in circuit courts without first seeking consent of the state's attorney's involved. The legislation,

INVESTIGATE BULLET HOLES IN RADAR EQUIPMENT

DERBY, Conn. (AP)—Two mobile radar equipment units en route by train to a U.S. Army rocket base were found punctured with bullet holes Saturday. Federal and local authorities immediately began an investigation.

Five .32 calibre bullet holes were discovered as the units were being unloaded to be delivered to the Army Nike base in Huntington. They came from Fort Bliss, Texas, and made one stop at Fort Hancock, N.Y.

The FBI and Army intelligence joined local police for an investigation. Police said the damage could have occurred anywhere en route from Texas.

It's World News, But Geneva's Citizens Ignore Talks

NO DOVE, HE—Peacock mirrors the world's curiosity as he peers through picket fence at the Palais des Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, where the Big Four foreign ministers are meeting. The bird is one of several which inhabit the palace grounds.

GENEVA (AP) — For a week the citizens of Geneva have all but ignored an event of world-wide interest taking place beneath their noses.

That event is the East-West foreign ministers' conference.

The names of some stars of the conference come close to being household words in many countries. In many cities their presence would generate crowds. In some cities the autograph-seekers would mob them.

But not in blase Geneva. Heads hardly turn when the big names go by, and the people who ask for autographs are mostly foreigners. No cheering crowds stand in front of the Palace of Nations to watch the ministers come and go.

Twelve men and women and one small boy witnessed the inaugural session from the sidewalk outside the palace. An excavation on the Rue du Rhone drew hundreds.

"Ah," said fruit seller Felix Clemenz, "these conferences are like a bad winter. There is little you can do about them, but they must be suffered. And summer will come again."

But don't conferences bring him business?

"A little, but when I go home at night my wife is in a bad humor because some swine of a chauffeur attached to one of these delegations has brushed her bicycle."

Geneva's newspapers give plenty of space to the conference, but this builds up no steam of conference interest.

The Tribune de Geneve reprinted a cartoon from a Danish paper showing some Genevans fishing in the Rhone River outside the plush Hotel du Rhone.

The hotel is where most of the delegates of the American delegation live. When the delegates left their headquarters, none of the fishermen in the cartoon even looked up.

"These people," commented one delegate, "are blase."

The fact that they're blase is not the whole explanation.

They are conferenced too much. They've been having international conferences since back in the last century.

Joe Cook Dies; Veteran Comedian

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Joe Cook, 69, one of Americas greatest funnymen of yesteryear, died Friday night.

His death at his home near here came 17 years after his long stage career had been ended by paralysis which gradually worsened.

For 35 years he had highlighted audiences with a vast repertoire of comical nonsense, much of which he invented on the spot as he performed in vaudeville houses and legitimate theaters across the country.

His parents died during his infancy, and he was reared by a family named Cook.

CHAIRMAN OF EDUCATION DEPT.

DR. VICTOR H. SHEPPARD

"Jacksonville has been good to me," says Dr. Victor H. Sheppard, who himself has given much to Jacksonville.

"I am grateful that I've been able to make a living here, because I like the place," says the man who must have many memories of the Elm City.

Perhaps these are the reasons for his success in many activities around town, one of which has earned him the new title: "Chairman of the Education Department and Director of Student Teaching" at MacMurray College.

Now Professor of Government at MacMurray, he will succeed retiring Oscar Galloway as education department head next September, according to announcement Saturday by President Louis W. Norris. He will teach all education courses in the department.

"One of the most vital needs of our country is adequately prepared teachers for the public schools," commented Dr. Sheppard, who was County Superintendent of Schools years ago.

"Preparation of teachers must not only embody the necessary professional courses, but it must include a clear understanding of the society of which education is a part," says the man who attended Jacksonville public schools, earned an A.B. at Illinois College, taught in public high schools, and later became JHS principal before his county superintendency.

Dr. Sheppard, known as "Vic" to his many friends, was born in Jacksonville, one of three children to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sheppard.

After receiving an M.S. at the University of Illinois, and a doctorate in Education at the University of Missouri, he became a teacher of social science in Illinois and Wisconsin schools. He returned to teach in Jacksonville high school, where he took particular interest in one of his American History students. They were married the following winter.

For years, Vic was a member of the legislative committee of the Illinois County Superintendents' Association. Other major organizations of which he has been a part include the National Education Association, American Legion, Midwest Conference of Political Scientists, and he is Chairman of the Advisory Board of Our Saviour's Hospital. He is a member of Masonic fraternity, and of Phi Delta Kappa honorary education fraternity. He is part President of the Illinois High School Social Science teachers.

Dr. Sheppard, who with his wife, Kathryn, resides at 1 LaDue Acres south of Jacksonville, has been with MacMurray since 1946.

New York ---- Here We Come

IN A ROMANTIC SETTING along a river bank sealed within an Indian Ashram handsome King Dushyanta finds the beautiful Shakuntala. Jim Cymons as Dushyanta and Penny Thomas as Shakuntala portray the mythical lovers here in a scene from the 1958 Illinois College commencement play. Local residents may remember the unusual settings and costumes used to produce the fanciful story of a king, a magic ring, and a beautiful Indian maiden.

Both Miss Thomas and Symons will portray the same roles in the play when it opens next fall off-Broadway in New York. While produced in a somewhat less authentic setting than Ames Woodland Stage, the ancient play will provide a unique experience in the theatrical world. Under the capable direction of Lee Morgan and through the moving characterizations of Miss Thomas and Mr. Symons, the drama of India will come to life in New York for the first time in nearly a half century.

The Star

Jim Symons

The Director

Lee Morgan

The Staff

Carol Davies

AT LEAST ONCE IN every man's life there comes a time when he has an idea that is sure to "click." Skeptics call it "daydreaming" while others speak of visions or other less considerate terms.

Throughout the country there must be thousands of play directors in high schools and colleges who sometime during their career come across a student with exceptional theatrical talent and ability. Many of these drama directors have dreamed of their prize pupil starring in a successful play on Broadway and themselves directing the venture.

This feeling of a "winning combination" is most often felt in a theatre where the difference between success and failure may frequently be traced to a "dream." The seeds of a winning combination have been sown during the past two years on the Illinois College campus and the ripened fruit will be ready for public acceptance this fall.

First In 40

"Shakuntala," the first Indian play in 40 years to be produced on the New York stage, will have several threads of Jacksonville woven into its fabric when it appears off-Broadway next autumn.

Jim Symons, who will star in the male lead, is well known locally not only for his pleasant voice heard regularly over Radio Station WLDS, but also for the roles in which he has appeared in 21 high school and college productions. His portrayal of Michael in "The Fourposter" contrasted with the blind Hamm in "Endgame," both produced on the IC campus, speak of his versatility.

Same Role

Jim's role as King Dushyanta in "Shakuntala," the Illinois College commencement play of 1958, is the same role which he will play next autumn before New York audiences in his first professional performance.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lyndell Symons, 1337 South Clay, and a graduate of Jacksonville High school. Jim has majored in speech and the theater arts at Illinois College and will graduate in June. He is now bringing his college theater career to a close by serving as student director of the 1959 commencement play, "The Seagull," by Chekhov.

Hopes For Career

Jim hopes to carve his career in the theater as an actor, and then in later years shift his energies to the field of producing and directing. He would consider it a great privilege if he should someday have the opportunity to become part of a repertory theater group.

Jim has developed his talents for the past two years under the direction of Lee Morgan who feels that Jim "possesses an intrinsic talent."

Lee Morgan, himself, is another of the threads in the fabric. Director of Dramatics at Illinois College the past two years, Mr. Morgan will serve as the producer-director of the off-Broadway production. In addition to his campus production of "Shakuntala" a year ago, he acquired other preparation for the undertaking in his use of the play as the subject of his Master's thesis at the State University of Iowa.

Started At 15

Mr. Morgan's interest in the theatre, begun at the age of 15, has reached its high point in his concentration on the theatre of India. International Theatre Representative for the state of Illinois the past two years in cooperation with UNESCO, Mr. Morgan believes great achievement can be made in international understanding through the arts.

Another thread is Miss Carole Davies, MacMurray College theater major, who is currently serving the growing company as secretary. She will continue in an administrative capacity when the company goes into production in New York.

Other Helpers

Mrs. Marion Baptist of Vogue Fabrics will assist with the costumes for the venture.

Bhaskara Rao, who has visited the campuses of MacMurray and Illinois Colleges as a representative of World University Service, is the literary advisor to the company.

Jacksonville playgoers have also had the opportunity to view two others of importance in the New York company, Penny Thomas and Nala Najan. Miss Thomas appeared in the title role and Najan appeared as the male dancer in the Illinois College production.

New York Backer

New York producer-director Patricia Newhall is currently acting as the New York representative for the company.

Also associated in the venture is the only East Indian in the United States doing graduate study in drama. The student, Krishna Shah—currently at the State University of Iowa—holds a law degree from Yale. Prior to coming to the United States for study, he was already recognized in theater circles in Bombay, India.

A production of "Shakuntala" is another indication of the revival of interest in recent years in the theatre of the Orient, both stage and cinema.

The progress of this latest contribution of the Orient to the New York stage will be watched closely, strangely enough, by theater lovers of central Illinois—far from both New York and the Orient.

Open House At MacMurray For Public Today

Jacksonville area residents who have never seen the "inside" of MacMurray College will have a golden opportunity to do just that, this afternoon, between the hours of two and four o'clock.

A warm invitation has been extended to townspeople by President Louis W. Norris, to take advantage of the first open house at MacMurray in 13 years. Even those who have been inside the college, he states, may want to do so again in view of the major changes that have taken place in the past few years.

Tours begin at 2 p.m., after registration at Main Hall on East State street. Some 60 MacMurray students will lead the tours, which will first cover a portion of the north campus before going southward to the new men's dormitories. The Jacksonville police department is cooperating in directing traffic and parking, and the Jacksonville Junior Chamber of Commerce is assisting in providing cars for transportation to those desiring it.

Mayor Robert A. DuBois joined President Norris is beckoning Jacksonville area residents to the college Sunday afternoon. He placed it in the form of a proclamation: do hereby proclaim May 17, 1959, as "MacMurray Day" in the City of Jacksonville."

Salute To Jacksonville

Refreshments will be served during the open house at Norris House, the second men's dormitory at the corner of Goltra and East Chambers. Literature and pictures will also be on hand describing Jacksonville's Contribution to the college and also describing some of the college's activities in the community.

It will be a "hats off" tribute to the city that has grown along with MacMurray since the days when Jacksonville had less than 1,000 inhabitants and the college had only 117 students.

Plan 3-Dimensional Exhibit Of District 117 Art Work

What! No pictures?

That's right. Everything in the District 117 School Art Exhibit this year is in three dimensions. This unusual collection of 3-D art work done by students of District 117 from kindergarten through high school may be viewed at the Strawn Art Home during the week of May 17-24. The hours for the exhibit will be as usual: week days from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Sundays from 3 to 5 p.m.

Pottery, tile mosaics, wire twists and paper animals are only a few of the unique creations which the students have produced for this exhibit. Bottle people visit between intricate toothpick structures; Indians gather in the shadow of a real totem pole; little paper birds stand on tiny feeding stations; and baby chicks are depicted hatching from their shells.

Masks and carvings will illustrate the ceremonies of our southern neighbors and the beauty of rocks and sea shells will be displayed through the mediums of jewelry and pottery ware. Other artistic creations included are leather work, wire jewelry, aluminum etching, clay modeling, sculpture and plaster work, paper mache animals, and cloth displays.

LIGHTER LOADS IN '58—The business recession and decline in the nation's gross national product can be blamed for a falling off in the amount of goods moved last year. Total ton-miles were 1.340 billion in 1957 and 1.242 billion in 1958.

Give Reports On White Hall Area Red Cross Drive

WHITE HALL— With 11 of the 14 area chairmen having reported from their drives for the Red Cross, only 53% of the quota has been reached. Of the three areas not completed, two are nearing completion and the third, Roodhouse, has turned in no report to date.

The Red Cross is responsible for the blood bank and Greene county is two years behind in payment for this service, and has not collected to date, enough to pay for the 1957-58 bill due last July 1. Another year's payment will be due on July of this year.

At a board of directors meeting held recently in Carrollton, it was discussed pro and con and decision was made to contact each area chairman and see what they can do in the way of re-soliciting or contacting those missed, and stress the importance of the drive and the quota being reached.

Mrs. W. L. Volles of Bluffdale, chairman, is the only one who has reached her quota and she and her workers are to be highly complimented for their efforts.

The Blood bank will again be in Carrollton on June 25, with a quota of 150 pints which it is hoped will be reached, as the quota fell short 30 pints when the bank was in Roodhouse on April 2.

It is of the utmost importance to every resident of the county that we maintain the services of the Red Cross including the blood bank in the county. It is urged that those who have not contributed contact their area chairman and make a generous donation.

Hard Work Doesn't Scare Her

At 70 She's Still Running Her Own Dairy Farm

PITTSBURGH, Pa. —(NEA)— Up at 3 a.m., tend to the farm chores, steer a tractor across the fields for a few hours, drive into town on errands.

The daily routine of a young man? That is the busy schedule of Mrs. Julia Deman, a 70-year-old woman.

Mrs. Deman with the aid of one hired man operates a flourishing 155-acre farm near Pittsburgh, Pa.

* * *

Born in Hungary, Mrs. Deman came to the U.S. in 1912, was widowed 27 years ago. With another woman, she bought the farm in McDonald, Pa., during World War II. Her partner died in 1954, but Mrs. Deman decided to go it alone.

When they started up their two-woman operation farmers in the neighborhood were skeptical, and gave them "about a year to run away."

They may have had similar ideas when the farm was left in the hands of only one woman approaching 70—but she has shown them differently.

She is short and robust, with whispy hair fine as smoke. Her broad hands are calloused and worn from hard work. But her walk is like a schoolgirl's, and she drives her bright red car in the same carefree manner.

The stone-faced farmhouse that is Mrs. Deman's home has 12 rooms. In addition to her dairy chores these are cleaned spotless.

* * *

Antiques from her native Hungary adorn the walls and cabinets. One of her favorite pieces, an elaborate water jug has no spout, just tiny holes in the top to admit water when lowered into a well.

An antique bronze plaque above the black marble dining room mantel depicts a Biblical scene.

The neat house, flanked by a red barn accommodating 30 head of cattle, was not always so neat, Mrs. Deman recalls.

Like most new homeowners, she and her woman partner busied themselves making extensive repairs.

Up at 3 a.m. and into her round of chores, Mrs. Julia Deman, 70, stops to stroke one of her star boarders.

* * *

She now boasts proudly, "We have the best cattle and dairy farm around, and fine machinery, too."

Living close to the land is a Deman tradition. Her father was a forester on a 6,000-acre estate of Hungarian royalty.

Mrs. Deman remembers clearly a hunting party that came to the forest many years ago. German Kaiser Wilhelm and Hungarian Crown Prince Franz Ferdinand were members of the entourage.

* * *

Leaning down from his saddle, the Kaiser swept little Julia up beside him. "Too bad you aren't a boy," he said, "I'd take you into the army." With that, he gave her a gold piece.

Not long afterward, Ferdinand was dead from an assassin's bullet, and the Kaiser had embarked on a war that swept across continents.

At 70, Mrs. Deman admits that she is feeling her years, and is considering retiring from the farm.

Then she could sleep beyond 3 a.m. and spend the day traveling around in her red auto.

Think Abstract Painting Is Crazy? Paris Doctor Says You Are Right

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS— (NEA)— If you've been one of those people that have been saying for years a guy would have to be crazy to paint some of the abstract pictures decorating museum walls, you now have some scientific company.

Dr. Elie Bontzolakis, a well-known Paris heart specialist, says abstract paintings are a symptom of mental illness.

And in three out of four cases, the doctor goes on, the painter also suffers from nervous tension, high blood pressure or an enlarged heart.

The more abstract the paintings, the worse the ailments.

These findings are the result of 12 years of study during which Dr. Bontzolakis treated some 70 artist-painters. Many were friends of his wife, also a painter, but in the more conventional mood.

The first artist to be treated was a man, 57. He complained of dizziness, leg cramps and violent headaches. After a time he abandoned abstraction for expressionism. Immediately his blood pressure dropped and his other ailments disappeared.

Two years later he returned, the doctor says, worse than before. He had returned to abstract painting.

Even more disquieting is the statement made by Dr. Bontzolakis that many people who surround themselves with abstract paintings, are affected in the same way, fortunately in a lesser degree.

ARTERIO-SCLEROTIC?: A section of Picasso's "Bird Cage."

"One of the most famous abstract painters in Paris suffers from constant hypertension and I cannot reduce it," says the doctor.

On the other hand, he claims, painters who paint a scene or portrait so that the layman can easily recognize the subject are seldom victims of heart trouble.

To put patients at their east and to lower their tension when they consult him, Dr. Bontzolakis has his office decorated with soothing landscapes and flower paintings.

The doctor also does a certain amount of debunking. He says:

"There are two categories of abstract painters. The first are lazy snobs, attitudinizers, lacking both talent and money. They are rarely neurotic.

"The others are most sincere. Therefore, they suffer both the emotional and physical symptoms of their form of art."

Their "anxiety" neurosis is often accompanied by nervous tension. This may range from irrational fear to schizophrenia.

Supporting Dr. Bontzolakis' claim is another Parisian, Dr. Gaston Bresson. He claims that "abstract art translates a disturbance which is perhaps merely the anguish of these artists fighting terrible odds."

What of Pablo Picasso, the master of abstract art? Both medicos agree that he could very well be "an arterio-sclerotic, suffering from hypertension."

New Mark Twain Institute Is No Place For Huck Finn

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

CLAYTON, Mo. —(NEA)— This summer more than 200 boys and girls will forsake the lazy life of a Huck Finn or Tom Sawyer to attend a school named for these mischief-makers' creator.

The new Maark Twain Institute will nurture academic interests of "gifted students" from the St. Louis area, who competed to be in the first classes held in this St. Louis suburb.

The Mark Twain program sounds like a literary venture, but Missouri publisher W. MacLean Johnson explains the Institute wasn't set up for writers.

"We called it Mark Twain because we had to call it something," he says, noting that Samuel L. Clemens "was a well-known figure" from his state.

* * *

For six weeks this summer and in summers to come the special classes held in Clayton High School and Washington University will provide courses in subjects not offered in the students' own high schools or subjects that the students can't work into crowded schedules.

The cream of 500 high school juniors and seniors who applied for this six-week term were accepted. Next year the Institute plans to enroll 400. Those attending the first classes this summer have a median I.Q. of 127.

"They represent the top three per cent of our population," says Johnson, who is a director of the Institute.

Only the future will reveal how much this intensive study of such subjects as Russian, advanced chemistry, advanced biology, German, English composition and literature and rapid reading will aid the pupil.

W. MacLean Johnson: Huck Finn wouldn't be interested.

* * *

Some unexpected situations have developed. For example, not enough students signed up to warrant an advanced physics class, and in view of the present stress on science this has the board of directors wondering. The biggest demand was for English composition and literature which the students need for college entrance examinations. Two classes of Russian were set up because of the large demand. Advanced biology and chemistry also were heavily enrolled.

Johnson explains that the course in rapid reading is necessary as a speedup for these students to meet the heavy demands of college assignments.

Behind this course is a study in St. Louis which revealed the most gifted students taking the tests were not necessarily rapid readers. Most were slow readers—about 200 words a minute. Before the tests, educators assumed gifted students would be fast readers.

"If they are to keep up with college courses," Johnso says, "those students and others like them must read at least 600 to 800 words a minute."

* * *

Officials directing the Institute were surprised at the large number of rural and semi-rural students who applied. Some of these came from communities 100 miles away.

It will take at least 10 years to realize the values of an institute of advanced studies for high school students. The only one like it in this country is in New England and has proved successful. Funds were a problem until the Institute received grants from the Danforth Foundation and the Universal Match Foundation.

Educators in the area still face the problem, according to Johnson, of the students criticizing their high school programs after these intensive studies. Even this is not a certainty.

"But one thing we do know," he points out. "Huck Finn would never have enrolled."

At least 200 donors must report at that time if the assigned quota for the locality of 150 pints is to be met, as past experience reveals there are always some who must be rejected as donors for various reasons.

She is being assisted by the former chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Sunderland Sr., who is continuing the work here in the capacity of co-chairman. An effort is being made to obtain a number of new donors to supplement the group who have been giving blood regularly.

CASS FARM BUREAU FINDS INTERESTING AREA STATISTICS

VIRGINIA— The Cass County Farm Bureau furnished the following interesting facts concerning some 1829 estimated values. The information was found by several University staff members who assisted in estimating Illinois land values for 1829 for a case pending before the Indian Claims Commission.

Here are their findings: Illinois had a population of 157,000; there were no banks; interest rates on land purchase was 35%; corn sold for 5 to 8 cents a bushel; eggs were 3 cents a dozen; pork sold for 1 cent a pound; cows sold for $5 to $10 a head.

Development of this area thru drainage, roads, transportation, new farming methods, general economic development, urbanization and inflation accounts for the great rise in land values. Land values have increased 2000 times since that time.

CHICAGO (AP) — After working higher on three successive days, the butcher hog market closed the week steady to 25 cents higher on barrows and gilts but steady to 25 lower on sows. The advance was on weights over 230 lbs.

Although trade generally was slow, offerings dropped rather sharply the latter part of the week and for the period were the smallest in seven weeks.

From the minimum top of $17.25 on Tuesday, the peak price hit $17.75 on Friday, the highest since Jan. 23.

Cattle receipts for the week showed a heavy 10 per cent increase with the proportion of choice grade slaughter steers up rather sharply.

Wednesday's supply was the largest for any Wednesday since January and the setback of as much as $1.50 a hundredweight on choice and prime steers that day was the steepest in over a year.

Slaughter lambs advanced another 50 cents to $1 this week as offerings here fell to the smallest of the year while increasing slightly at the 12 major markets.

With strong carcass lamb prices, the market for slaughter lambs hit its highest level since last fall.

GAINS IN GRAINS BARELY OFFSET LAST WEEK'S LOSSES

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate gains were the rule this week in grain futures prices on the Board of Trade but they did little more at best than cancel out last week's setbacks. In some instances, they fell slightly short.

May wheat and rye, both long-time steady losers, were the only contracts to show additional losses for the week. May rye slumped as much as 5 cents a bushel and May wheat another 1¼ cents. Most other contracts finished on the plus side in the 1 to 2 cent range.

Significant commercial influences were scarce and at least some of the firmness was attributed to a somewhat general move among dealers to establish long positions in distant deliveries.

With trading in all May contracts ending next Wednesday, interest in those deliveries sagged except for evening up transactions. However, there appeared to be more short covering than liquidation of those contracts.

At the end of the week, wheat futures were 1¼ cents a bushel lower on May to 1½ higher on new crop months, May $1.86¼-⅜; corn ¼-2 cents higher, May $1.25⅝-¾; oats ½-1½ higher, May 68⅜; rye 5 cents lower on May to 1½ higher on new crop months, May $1.34¾-35; soybeans ½-2¾ higher, May $2.31.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its rise to historic highs this week under the leadership of blue chips.

The higher quality issues took the center of the stage while electronics and other space age stocks retired to the wings following their recent huge advances.

The week's rise was one of the bigger ones this year and would have been greater if not for late selling Friday. This was prompted by a stiffening in interest rates by leading banks. They raised the prime lending rate to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent.

Wall Street likes easy money and dislikes tight money as the latter puts a crimp on business expansion and stock purchasing.

The market averages reached new records on Wednesday and Thursday after a consolidation period of about three weeks. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks hit a peak of $230.10.

The AP 60-stock average had a best weekly gain since the week closing at $229.20. It was the biggest weekly gain since the week ended April 18 when the average rose $5.10.

Trading went along at a fairly active clip, totaling 18,115,455 shares for the week compared with 18,903,800 the week before.

The advance cut off a two-week decline in the averages.

U.S. government and corporate bonds slumped again this week as interest rates climbed in a tightening money market.

Most government bonds are at historic lows and the corporate market settled to 1959 lows. It was the seventh consecutive week going downhill for corporates and the sixth for governments.

Just before the market closed Friday, major commercial banks in New York said they would boost the prime rate Monday from 4 to 4½ per cent. The increase was followed rapidly by similar announcements from banks in major cities across the country.

The prime rate is what banks charge their biggest customers with the best credit ratings. It is a basic money market charge affecting all business because other interest charges are always scaled up from the prime rate.

Trading amounted to 30 million dollars par value on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with $31,884,600 last week and $22,628,000 for the corresponding week a year ago.

Nine Members Of Two Families Perish In Fires

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Nine members of two Missouri families—seven of them children—perished in fires that destroyed their newly-acquired homes within the space of 4½ hours ending early Saturday.

The family of Robert Bennett Sr., 29, was wiped out as flames engulfed the frame house they recently purchased in Riverview Gardens, a north St. Louis County suburb.

Bennett suffocated along with his wife, Lawanda, 28, and their children, Dianne, 9; Robert Jr., 2; and Sherry, 1. Investigators said the parents apparently had got the baby from a crib but were overcome before they could open a window.

Earlier, four children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wray died in a blaze that swept their farm home near Neelyville, Mo., 160 miles south of St. Louis.

The victims were Michael, 9; Margie, 11; Charles, 7; and Joyce, 4. The parents escaped with another daughter, Toni, 2, but Mrs. Wray suffered burns on the hands and face in rescuing the child.

Each of the families moved into its home three weeks ago.

Defective wiring was listed as a possible cause of each fire.

Color plays an important part in the courtship of butterflies. A male is most attracted to a female bearing its own colors.

Italy To Get Jupiter Missiles Within Six Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shipment to Italy of Army-produced Jupiter IRBM missiles, together with all equipment needed for launching sites, is expected to begin within six weeks.

The Army, asked about this report Saturday, said only that its 1,500-mile-range ballistic weapons are ready for use and that the ground support equipment for the first Jupiter missile squadron has been waiting for deployment for several months.

Following the policy established when Air Force Thor IRBMs were delivered to England, the Jupiter missiles and launching equipment will be placed in the hands of the Italian military. But custody of the nuclear warheads will remain with American personnel. This is required under the Atomic Energy Act.

The Army designed and produces the Jupiter, for which Chrysler Corp. is the prime contractor, but under Defense Department orders use of the missile is the responsibility of the Air Force.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy has fixed production to permit equipment of four Thor outfits and three Jupiter squadrons, with Air Force crews. The first agreement provided for Thor weapons to Britain. After long negotiations, Italy decided a few months ago to accept American IRBMs, with the Jupiter weapons designated for that country.

pending for weeks in Senate Judiciary Committee, will be withdrawn, spokesmen said, because it would prove too costly to administer.

This week may also see some significant developments in the struggle shaping up between Democrats and Republicans over which tax source to turn to. In the Senate, the Stratton recommendation for a half cent increase in the sales tax has advanced to amendment stage and could be moved quickly up to passage.

In the House, Democrats in opposition to the sales tax hike will throw their weight behind a measure by Rep. John Morris (D-Chadwick) for a ten-fold increase in the present corporation franchise tax. Morris said he intends to call the bill for passage this week.

The battle will be joined when the two tax measures cross over into hostile Houses — the GOP-controlled Senate and the Democratic-controlled House.

In fact, much of what was said in the conference during the first week bore little relationship to what the conference is actually about. The U.S.-British-French package plan was put in for the record and as a basis for propaganda. U.S. officials feel—more strongly than the British and French—that German unity is essential to European peace, but they knew long before coming to Geneva that it could not be attained in the predictable future.

Set Trial By Jury To Determine Sanity

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP — The mother of the strangled Brogdon children and her boy friend know right from wrong and are not insane, two psychiatrists reported Friday.

A jury trial on the question of their sanity was set for Wednesday, following the reports to Superior Judge Bonsall Noon.

Mrs. Wanda Lawson Brogdon, 33, and Kenneth Archie Merriam, 36, are charged with murdering her sons, Virgil Jr., 5, and David, 3, the night of May 2.

Merriam has told police and reporters that he strangled the boys at Mrs. Brogdon's instigation, because they were a nuisance.

He had come here with the mother and children, including a 19-months old daughter, from Rockford, Ill., about two weeks before the children were strangled.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Being seen too much on television has washed out more professional performers than booze, temperament and lack of humility.

Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Jackie Gleason and other comedians labored for years to wear out their welcome on the parlor and pub idiot box.

Floyd Patterson set a new record by becoming as overexposed as Brigitte Bardot in 30 minutes and 51 seconds, the exact length of time the one-time bad boy of Brooklyn was on shameful public display from the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum against a harmless oaf named Brian London.

Not only did Patterson overstay his time on TV against the Blackpool Beatnik, but he came close to convincing a lot of diehards in the beak busting business as well as casual viewers that as the heavyweight champion he could be the most colossal hoax since the Cardiff Giant.

* * *

CONSTANTINE D'AMATO, a pint-size Mussolini who set up an international cartel to protect his alleged tiger, now may be compounding the felony. Competent Swedes tell you that Ingemar Johansson, Patterson's next victim at Yankee Stadium, June 25, fits well into the pattern of Cus D'Amato's carefully selected push-overs for Patterson.

It wasn't surprising to anyone who knows what has been going on to read that the Cus D'Amato Chowder, Marching and Charity Society, under the banner of which Patterson charges valiantly from one setup to another, had planned a return softie with London.

Didn't the great D'Amato proclaim to millions immediately after the waltz-me-around in the Hoosier capital that the lantern-jawed, powder-puff punching London, with six months training in American (D'Amato) methods, would chase the rest of the heavyweights—with the exception of Patterson, of course—out of the ring?

* * *

THE RETURN MISHMASH would be, according to London, contingent upon an agreement to cut Cus the Crusader in as his manager in the unlikely event that Brian the Beatnik suddenly found within himself the modicum of vim, valor and vitality required to knock the off-balance champion off balance often enough to grab a decision.

The D'Amato who made this highly improper proposal to London and who brought him to this country surreptitiously is the same one-time collector for the International Boxing Manager's Guild who headed the Purity League drive to oust James Dougan Norris and his reportedly obnoxious associates from control of prize fighting. The Guild, as you may recall, was put out of business by the New York commission.

This gives you some idea of how the lowly have risen.

* * *

BUT WHAT WE STARTED out to say was that Patterson, having so quickly worn himself out on home TV, goes on the closed circuit theatre version of it with Johansson.

From my quick observation, Teleprompter can sell anything.

That must be the way Irving Kahn, the bit-of-a-genius heading the network, felt about it when he bought Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson.

Cards Scramble Out Of NL Cellar In 8-2 Victory Over Phillies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scrambled out of the National League cellar Saturday for the first time since April 22, dumping the Philadelphia Phillies into last place with a 8-2 victory sweetened by homers by Gary Blaylock and B. G. Smith.

The triumph elevated the Redbirds to seventh place by only 8 percentage points, .375 to .367. It was the Phillies' sixth straight defeat.

Blaylock picked up his second victory against one defeat. Phils' starter Jim Owens dropped his third in four decisions.

Blaylock's homer was his second of the campaign. Smith collected his first. Each came with a runner aboard. Harry Anderson notched No. 3 for the Phillies.

Blaylock never was in trouble. The young right-hander surrendered 8 hits, struck out 5 and walked 3.

Michigan Is The Team To Beat In Big Ten Tennis

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Deft-shooting Art Andrews of Iowa is the man to beat and Michigan is the team favorite in the 50th annual Big Ten tennis championship this weekend.

The conference meet will be held Thursday through Saturday on Michigan State courts. Northwestern has served as host for the championships 14 of the last 16 years.

Andrews, defending No. 1 singles champion, heads a field of about 70 performers from all 10 schools entered in the half-century meet.

They'll compete for six singles and three doubles championships and the team crown.

Illinois will return Bill Breckenridge, half of its No. 2 doubles champions, and its No. 3 doubles titlists, Joe Epkins and George Gilmore.

Illinois is considered the Wolverines' top challenger with defending champion Iowa a darkhorse.

U.S. Wins 16th Walker Cup Title

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — A trio of college boys new to international competition — Ward Wettlaufer, Jackie Nicklaus and Deane Beman — paced U.S. amateur golfers to a sweeping 9-3 Walker Cup victory over the British Saturday.

Wettlaufer, 23, and Nicklaus, just 19, played superb sub-par golf for crushing one-sided victories and young Beman, idle in Friday's team matches, came from behind to win a decision on the final green.

Two hardened veterans of Walker Cup play, Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Bill Hyndman III of Abington, Pa., contributed two other points in America's 16th Cup triumph, with only one defeat, in 37 years.

The British, shut out 4-0 in Friday's foursomes, salvaged some slight consolation in the final individual duels. They beat two of America's most celebrated amateur golf stars and added a third point with a comeback victory over the fourth member of the college group, Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga.

In the day's blue-ribbon match, Joe Carr, the British amateur champion from Ireland, snuffed out two strong rallies and whipped the team captain and reigning U.S. titlist, Charlies Coe, 2 and 1. Reid Jack, the tough Scotsman from Glasgow, smashed the colorful Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., 5 and 3.

Aaron, 21-year-old Gainesville, Ga., collegian, lost a nightmarish 2 and 1 decision to Alex Shepperson.

Wettlaufer, Hamilton College senior from Buffalo, N.Y., smashed Michael Lunt, 6 and 5. Nicklaus, from Columbus, Ohio, turned back Dick Smith, a Scotsman 22 years his senior, 5 and 4. Beman, 21 from Silver Spring, Md., battled back from 2-down at the end of the morning round to edge Michael Bonallack, 2 up.

Ward trounced Guy Wolstenholme, the English titleholder, 9 and 8. Hyndman, from Abington, Pa., had an easy time beating Doug Sewell, 4 and 3.

Senators Rap Kansas City, 7-2

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington pitcher Camilio Pascual pitched 7 hitless innings Saturday but settled for a 4-hit, 7-2 Senators victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Rookie Bob Allison and veteran Jim Lemon each walloped his eighth homer as the slugging Senators upped their American League-leading home run total to 40. The Senators got 11 hits off loser Ralph Terry, Russ Meyer and Dick Tomanek.

In the first 7 innings, the 25-year old right-hander faced only 22 batters, 1 over the minimum. The only batter to reach base during that span was Hector Lopez, who took a fastball in the ribs.

Bob Cerv, leading off in the eighth, spiled Pascual's no-hit bid with a line double to the fence in left-center. He lost his shutout in the ninth when Whitey Herzog doubled and scored on Preston Ward's double. A single by Roger Maris scored Ward.

Purdue Favored In Big 10 Golf

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Impressive team depth, headed by defending medalist John Konsek, makes Purdue a slight favorite to retain its Big Ten golf championship this weekend.

Par will prove a rough customer Friday and Saturday on Michigan's long, rolling course with its expansive greens, Bert Katzenmeyer, Michigan's coach, said the course will be lengthened to measure 6,925 yards, but par will remain 36-36—72 for the four 18-hole championship rounds.

Purdue rates a notch ahead of Indiana in pre-championship figuring. But Indiana will press the Boilermakers, said Katzenmeyer, whose Wolverines have matched strokes with both in dual competition this season.

Watts 2nd At State

BOBBY WATTS of Jacksonville High had to settle for second place in the finals of the broad jump at Champaign Friday as the IHSA Track and Field Championships got underway. Watts was the defending state champion with a mark of 22-0¾. Phil Winteroth of Wauconda nailed down the 1959 crown with a leap of 22-10½. The newly-crowned champ went over 22-feet on each of his five tries. His winning jump was the best he's ever done.

Watts finished second with a mark of 22-0¼. Baker of LaGrange went 21-8½ for third and Fox of Rockbridge was fourth with 21-8. Fifth place went to Thurman of Bloom, 21-4¾.

Bobby, who was hampered somewhat with an abscessed tooth, was timed in 20.5 in the 180 yard low hurdles but the time wasn't fast enough to qualify him for the finals. John Bourn and Mal Portee failed to qualify in the pole vault and broad jump respectively.

The 880 varsity relay team composed of Ray Thorn, Mal Portee, Chauncey Whitaker and John Sutphen, placed fifth in their heat of seven teams but failed to make the finals. They had one consolation however in setting a new team record of 1:35.2, which bettered the 1957 mark of 1:35.7.

MacMurray Loses To McKendree, 6-3, 6-4

McKendree's Bearcats rallied for five runs in the top of the seventh inning to come from behind in the second game to win both ends of a twin-bill from Bill Wall's Highlanders at Nichols Park Saturday afternoon. The Bearcats won the opener, 6-3, but had to go all out to take the second contest, 6-4.

MacMurray saw McKendree come up with four big runs in the third inning of the opener. Schulte doubled, Parker walked, Fizer singled, Roberts singled and Speiser also singled to give the winners a 4-0 spread. The damage was done against Marv Hohenberger, who went the distance in the first game and worked three innings of the second contest.

Dan McWhorter, Highlander shortstop, poled a 2-0 pitch over the 324-foot sign in right center in the 4th frame for his fifth homer of the season and his 14th RBI. MacMurray's other homer was stroked by Dennis Skoff in the fifth inning. Hohenberger was charged with his fourth loss against two victories.

A tight pitching duel between Ron Speiser and Marv Hohenberger, who was relieved by Roy Hahnfeld in the fourth inning, was broken wide open when MacMurray pushed across four runs in the fifth for a 4-0 margin. Back to back singles by Hahnfeld and Skoff and a double by Jerry Lace provided a 2-0 lead. A double by McWhorter and a base hit by catcher Ron Price accounted for MacMurray's final two runs.

McKendree picked up a single tally in the sixth and then exploded in the seventh for five runs and their 24th triumph in 25 starts. Hahnfeld met his waterloo by yielding three straight walks and then Schulte tripled to right center to knot the score at 4-all. First baseman Jack Parker tore into a Hahnfeld offering for a tremendous home run over the center field barrier to give McKendree a 6-4 lead and the ball game.

Ron Speiser annexed his seventh straight win without a loss while Roy Hahnfeld suffered his first defeat against no victories.

Expect Records To Fall In 59th Outdoor Affair

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Only five individual champions return, but records may tumble merrily in the 59th Big Ten outdoor track and field meet at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday.

A hot battle for the team title is predicted between defending champion Illinois and last winter's indoor titlist Michigan.

High hurdler Willie May of Indiana, low hurdler Pete Stanger of Michigan, two-miler Len Edelen of Minnesota; high jumper Ernie Haisley of Illinois; and Northwestern's Willmer Fowler in the 100 are the returning 1958 outdoor winners.

However, 14 of the 15 current indoor champions will add zest to competition right down the line.

Michigan will be striving for an indoor-outdoor title sweep, last accomplished by Don Canham's Wolverines in 1956. Illinois did the same trick under veteran Leo Johnson in 1958. Since 1951, only Indiana, in 1957, has cracked the Michigan-Illinois track monopoly in either indoor or outdoor competition.

Michigan's chances hinge upon the complete recovery of Tom Robinson, speedster from the Bahamas, from an injury in late April. Robinson, winner of the 60 and 300 indoor dashes, holds the Big Ten's best spring clocking for the century, 9.4. His :30.3 for the Big Ten 300 equalled the American record.

Robinson also will be a threat to Fowler in the 200, while other standout conference springers include Del Coleman of Illinois, Tom Burrows of Iowa, John Gregg of Michigan and Bob Rechord of Wisconsin.

Illinois' George Kerr may menace marks in the 440 and 880 runs, while Bob Lake of Michigan State, Jim Bowers of Illinois, Jack Hill of Iowa, and Dave Martin of Michigan head a fine mile field.

Haisley and Ron Mitchell of Illinois have cleared 6-7¾ in the high jump this spring. Michigan's Les Bird has a 25-1¾ broad jump to his credit. In the pole vault, Eeles Landstrom and Mamon Gibson of Michigan and Jim Johnston of Purdue have been flirting with the 15-foot mark.

BATTERYMATES ARE RIVALS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Former batterymates pitcher Johnny Vander Meer and catcher Ray Mueller, are now managers in the Three I League. Vandy of double no-hit fame with Cincinnati manages Topeka and Mueller pilots Burlington, Iowa.

Cleveland Smacks Boston, 12-6, To Stay In 1st Place

BOSTON (AP)—Cleveland kept its grip on the American League lead Saturday by defeating Boston 12-6 as Rocky Colavito contributed his 10th and 11th homers and southpaw Herb Score an unusual 6-hitter.

Colavito moved more than a quarter of the way to his 1958 total of 41 home runs and raised his batting average 13 points to .346.

The 25-year-old Bronx, N.Y., native capped a 4-run first inning Indians' assault on loser Frank Baumann with a towering 3-run fly into the left field screen. He hit a solo drive in the fifth and singled in the ninth.

Score, who had a no-hitter until Dick Gernert clubbed a 2-run homer with none out in the fifth, gave up the other Red Sox tallies in the sixth when Boston batted around.

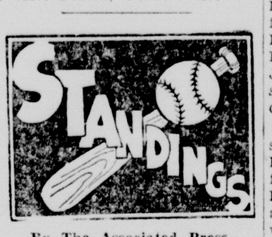

He was the victim of 3 singles, 2 walks and Gernert's sacrifice fly in that span but held on to complete his third triumph of the season. Score fanned 9.

Billy Martin, Vic Power and George Strickland drove in two runs apiece for Cleveland while Jim Piersall and Russ Nixon added one each.

Baltimore Whips Detroit, 6-1

Baltimore (AP) — Baltimore broke up a tight pitching duel in the sixth inning by jumping on Frank Lary for 4 big runs on only 2 hits and the help of a costly error to defeat Detroit 6-1 Saturday.

Bob Nieman started the big frame by beating out a slow infield roller for a single. Gus Triandos, sacrificing Nieman to second, made first safely when Lary bobbled the dumped ball.

After Billy Klaus sacrificed the pair along and Chico Carrasquel took a third strike, the Tigers walked Billy Gardner intentionally. The Oriole pitcher, Hoyt Wilhelm, got a very unintentional walk, then Willie Tasy, the rookie sensation, unloaded a triple over Al Kaline's head, clearing the bases.

The popular Moline high cage mentor was struck by a basketball and had to undergo surgery last year. Moline will entertain the State champs from Springfield high next season in the huge Wharton field house. Pekin's basketball coach, Bob Cain, had been in line for the Galesburg high basketball coaching job if John Thiel had accepted the job at Iowa U. Cain is in his third year at Pekin high school and formerly served at Elkhart and Clinton high schools.

Coach Ken Zimmerman Sr. of West Aurora high in football has decided to stay next season and he has been a candidate to replace Ray Eliot at Illinois U. after the 1959 season. His son, Ken Jr., is a football standout and he will enroll at Illinois in September. Walter "Hoot" Evers starred for Collinsville's third place team in the 1937 State basketball tourney and this week he signed Al Luplow, star athlete at Michigan State, to a baseball contract with the Cleveland Indians. Evers is Cleveland's farm director and the signing of the soph standout brought screams from his coach in baseball, John Kobs.

Jim Jones of North Chicago high has decided to enroll at Iowa University in September and he is a fine halfback. Dwayne Barnes of Bethany high has competed in four consecutive State track and field meets as he qualified as a Frosh by winning the 100 yard dash in the District. Notre Dame of Quincy is folding after the present campaign and will be replaced by new high school, Christian Brothers. Gene Runde, present Raider cage mentor, has resigned and will be the Junior high coach in his home town of Teutopolis.

Hinsdale Wins IHSA Tennis

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Hinsdale won an unprecedented fourth straight state high school tennis championship Saturday and its star, Mary Riessen, took his third consecutive singles crown.

Hinsdale piled up 7 points while Oak Park and Evanston shared second with 6 each.

Riessen, son of Hinsdale's tennis coach, Clare, defeated Doug Walter of Glenbard 6-2, 6-1 in the title match. The two also met in the finals last year.

Ken Paulison and Edwin Gage of Evanston captured the doubles crown by downing Bob Inman and Jim Erickson of Arlington Heights 6-2, 6-1.

Semifinal results—singles: Riessen defeated Bob Powless, Flora, 6-1, 6-2; Walter defeated Gary Baxter, Lake View (Chicago) 6-4, 7-5.

In 1910, Layminster won the Preakness under the feather impost of 84 pounds. Now all Preakness entrants carry 126 pounds, same as in the Kentucky Derby.

Unearned Run Gives Cubs 3-2 Victory Over Pittsburgh Pirates

CHICAGO (AP)—An unearned run in the ninth inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday in a game which otherwise was a battle of homers.

Bobby Thomson and Walt Moryn hit homers for an early 2-0 Cub lead, but Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski and Dick Groat also homered to tie it at 2-2. Groat's homer off Cub reliefer Don Elston led off the Pirates ninth.

In the bottom of the ninth, catcher Hank Foiles dropped pitcher Harvey Haddix' called third strike on Alvin Dark.

After Dark reached first on the error, Ernie Banks singled, Moryn beat out a perfect bunt to fill the bases, and Thomson smashed a single off third baseman Don Hoak's glove to score pinch runner Chick King.

It was a tough loss for Haddix, who scattered 7 hits and retired 15 straight batters before the costly ninth.

IC Loses In 11 Innings To Greenville 9, 8-7

GREENVILLE — Greenville pushed across the winning run in the 11th inning to down Illinois College for the second time this season in Prairie College Conference competition, 8-7.

An infraction by Greenville in the 10th inning prevented the winners from ending the game right there. The host nine had the sacks loaded with two outs in the 10th. A hard hit shot to left field scored the winning run but the man on second failed to move to third. The Blueboys relayed the ball to third for the force out and no run can count if the third out is on a force play.

Ken Stone worked the first five innings for Joe Brooks' nine. Neal Hart, who was charged with the loss, worked the final six frames.

Snead 11 Strokes Under Par With A Torrid 59

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—Sam Snead, in the twi-light of one of golf's greatest careers, shot his best competitive round and one of the best ever in the United States Saturday — a fantastic 59—in the third round of the Sam Snead Festival.

Snead, who will be 47 on May 27, was 11 strokes under par on the 6,317-yard course where he has been pro for more than a quarter of a century. Only one other competitive 59 for 18 holes has been recorded, by Earl Fry of Alameda in a northern California tournament on a municipal course.

The Professional Golfers Assn. tournament record low is 60. It has been carded by seven golfers, the most recent being Snead himself in winning the 1957 Dallas Open.

The barrage of 9 birdies and an eagle left Snead with a 54-hole total of 196—14 under par—going into the final round of the $10,000 affair Sunday.

Snead's score does not count as a PGA competitive record because the tournament here is not PGA-sponsored.

"This is my highlight. I always wanted to break 60 in a tournament one time," drawled the lanky mountaineer.

Snead, who has won 4 of the past 11 tournaments on his home grounds, for once putted like a demon. His eagle 3 on the 483-yard 15th hole was scored on a 35-foot putt.

FAN BREEZES

Local fans have some fine baseball coming their way this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as the Routt Regional Tournament gets underway at Illinois College's diamond, which is considered the finest in Central Illinois. Herb Scheffler's Springfield Senators and Riverton open the three-day playoff with a four o'clock meeting Monday. Riverton's Esty Robertson, who has beaten Springfield twice, 4-1, and 9-0, is slated to start against the Solons. Riverton has good pitching, is strong defensively, and is solid up and down the batting order. They are favored to take the Regional award. Riverton's only loss in 13 starts was a close verdict to Cathedral.

—0—

Scheffler will probably give Mike Campbell the starting assignment against their rival neighbor. Campbell is considered the Senator ace. Tom Cole is also a pitching possibility. He was good in Springfield's 4-3 district win over Feitshans. Springfield was last in the City standings and had lost to Feitshans twice before engaging in district play. Riverton allowed Pleasant Plains only one hit on a sloppy district field but committed four errors and gave up eight walks to slip by the Plainsmen, 6-5. Virginia (14-1) will battle Lewistown at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday. Coach Kimpling's Redbirds shaded JHS, 3-2, to enter Regional play.

—0—

Most of Kimpling's nine were members of his grade school team that won the state championship in the fall of '55. Only one senior is on the Virginia roster, Jeff Knight, a left-hander, or Dave Walter, a right-hander, will go against Lewistown. Walter was effective in holding Jacksonville to six hits. Virginia's only loss was a 10-0 verdict to Routt in the PMSC conference championship. Lewistown, who had lost to Havana twice during the regular season came back to beat the Ducks, 5-3, in the first game of the district. Lewistown trounced Mason City in the finals, 13-2.

The Jacksonville Chapter of the Illinois Federation of Sportsman's Clubs will hold their next regular meeting Tuesday night, May 19. The menu, a favorite of all sportsmen—ham and beans—will be served at 6:30 p.m. All members and prospective members are invited to attend. The Club has been receiving a face-lifting to enlarge accomodations and the plan is rapidly being carried out. The Club also has been doing a banner business with the Thursday night trap shoot. Keep Tuesday night open sportsmen!

MacMurray golfers wound up a highly successful season Saturday at Nichols Park with victories over Carthage, 12½-2½, and Lincoln, 12½-2½. The wins boosted the Highlander record to 12 wins against six setbacks. The squad was paced by Tom Farrell and Chuck Osborne, who carded 74s. Rex Johnston fired a 78 and Bob Leistner and Gail Jones posted 86s. Probably the most outstanding victory of the season as far as the Highlanders were concerned was the rout over Knox College of Galesburg last weekend.

It would be difficult to name an All-City college team but it wouldn't be too difficult in naming the long-ball hitters. MacMurray's Ron Price (catcher), Neil Williams (2nd base), Dan McWhorter (shortstop), Joe Jamison (3rd base), and Jerry Lace or I.C.'s Chick Lamsargis (left field) would get my nomination. At first base would be Ed Puck of Illinois College and Bob Hembrough and Dick Hembrough of the Blueboys in center and right field respectively. Pitching would be the biggest problem. I'd have to try Ken Stone and Neal Hart of the Blueboys and Marv Hohenberger and Gordon Wendlandt or Dave Cassady of the Highlanders. A couple of these boys are fine professional prospects. From the leagues I've played in or umpired in, I'd have to say Price, McWhorter, Jamison, Puck and Bob Hembrough could hold their own in 'B' classification.

—0—

In the prep circles, my first team picks would be: catcher—Irvin Todd (Routt); first base—Carol Rea (JHS); 2nd base—Larry Sellers (Routt); shortstop — Gary Spangenberg (JHS); third base—Fred Curtis (Routt); left field—Mike Hudson (JHS); center field—Jack Lawless (Routt); right field — Mickey Walker (Routt) or Jerry Stocker (JHS). My hurlers would be Merritt Norvell (JHS) and John Fitzpatrick (Routt). We'd win more than our share of games with this lineup.

—0—

My coaching picks: pitching coach—Joe Brooks (IC); catching coach — Bob Kraushaar JHS); 1st base coach — Bill Wall (MacMurray); 3rd base coach—Potsy Clark (ISD); and hitting coach—Bob Winstead (Routt). This assortment might not win any state championships but we'd sure know the rules—eh, men?

Catcher Cecil Raybourne provided Kelley with all the offense Bradley needed. Raybourne clubbed a three-run homer in Bradley's four-run third inning. The Braves added a pair of insurance runs in the fifth.

Two Records Fall In 65th Championships, Bloom Nets 29 Points

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — Bloom of Chicago Heights amassed 29 points Saturday for an unprecedented fourth straight team title in the State High School Track Meet.

The 65th championships also were marked by two broken records, a disqualification of the mile winner and a serious left knee injury suffered by St. Elmo's fine dash man, Bob Doty.

Senior Doty won the 100 yard dash in :10.0, edging Bloom's Roger Elliott, and was favored in the 220. In that race, Forrest Newton of Kankakee forged ahead to win in :22.7 with Doty second.

Doty fell after crossing the finish line, was carried from the field and taken to Burnham City Hospital. X-rays showed no fracture and the attending physician said Doty had a deeply bruised knee cap and possible ligament strain.

In a great mile race, Jerry McFadden of Belleville spurted in the last 50 yards to pass Mary Silliman of Kankakee and stay ahead of fast-closing Steve Newcomer of Leave River.

Officials upheld a protest that McFadden, clocked in 4:25.5, had bumped Silliman onto the curb of the track as he headed around the last turn.

Newcomer, who was second, was moved up to first with a winning time of 4:26.2 and Silliman was advanced to second.

Rudolph Morgan anchored Phillips' mile relay team to a 3:23.5 victory over defending champion Bloom and also hoisted a record in the 880-yard run. The senior distance man covered the half mile in 1:55.1 compared with the 1:56.1 record set by Freeport's Mike Smith in 1956.

Bill Rawson of Lake Forest was second, 25 feet behind after Morgan steamed in front in the final 40 yards, and defending titlist Lynn Griffin of Bloom third. Rawson was timed in 1:56.3 and Griffin in 1:56.5.

The only other record came in the discus Friday when Cloyd Webb of East St. Louis sailed the platter 172 feet 3 inches, nearly one yard better than the mark established by Marmion's Bob Sharpenter in 1958.

Bloom scored in 10 of the 14 events, picking up firsts in the 880-yard relay, 440 and shot put. The baton team of Bob Cosenza, Zeke Corbin, Homer Thurman and Elliott, posted 131.9 in beating out Morton of Cicero.

Elzie Higginbottom won the quarter mile by two strides over Dick Welty of Palatine in :49.5. Ron Barbizzi missed a record-match shot by 1½ inch with a toss of 58-2.

Phillips, Palatine and Lyons shared second place in the team totals, each with 13 points. New Trier had 12½, East St. Louis 12, Kankakee 11 and Morton of Cicero 10.

Other winners:

120-yard high hurdles — Larry Howard, Proviso East, :14.9, 180-yard low hurdles — Ken Gordon, Palatine, :19.9; broad jump—Phil Winteroth, Wauconda, 22 - 10¾; high jump — Wes Sidney, New Trier, 6-3; pole vault — Jim Nelson, La Grange 12-8.

Big Ten Elders Meet Next Week To Bury Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten athletic elders meet in Ann Arbor Mich., next week apparently to bury the Rose Bowl football pact.

The burial will take place at the conference's spring meeting, held in connection with the 59th Big Ten outdoor track meet at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday.

The league's 10 members already have established 5-5 split on renewal of the Rose Bowl contract with the Big Four offshoot of the Pacific Coast Conference which disbands June 30.

A 5-5 stalemate automatically kills any proposed Big Ten legislation.

In a March meeting in Madison, Wis., a straw vote resulted in a 5-4 ballot favoring Rose Bowl continuance with Northwestern abstaining.

Since then, with individual schools voting at home on the subject, Northwestern lined up with Ohio State, Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin against renewal. Approving renewal were Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State.

A Big Ten spokesman said "it looks like this is a dead issue. There is no indication any school will change its position. As for the possibility some member may abstain from voting to break the deadlock, this is hardly likely since each faculty representative is instructed to vote."

Thus, the Browe Bowl probably will die, as far as the Big Ten is concerned, with the 1960 game. After that, the Big Four of Western College football — California, Southern California, Washington and UCLA — and Tournament of Roses Committee will have to look beyond the Big Ten for competition.

In the 220, he was clocked in 21.7 and had a 49.5 time in the 440. The Indians also bettered records in the mile relay (3:28), pole vault (12'4½"), and the two-mile run (10:25).

Rose Poly placed second with 56 2/3 points. Greenville was third with 38½. Illinois College had 22 and Blackburn 10.

Ron Ladley captured a fifth in the shot put. Illinois College's mile relay team composed of Berndt, Coomber, Beamer and Orendorff netted a second place in the event with a time of 3:39. Principia's new record time was 3:28 flat.

This wound up Illinois College's 1959 schedule.

BRAIN POWER COMPARISON

MONTREAL (AP) — Are porpoises smarter than people? Could be, says Dr. D. O. Hebb of McGill University, president-elect of the American Psychological Assn. He told an interviewer the playful sea mammals have a larger brain and more cortex than man, but more study is needed to learn if their brain size gives them more brain power than humans.

Winner Covers Mile In 1:57 To Beat Out Sword Dancer, Dunce

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Royal Orbit zoomed from outer space around the middle of the track on the final turn in the $190,300 Preakness Stakes Saturday and drew away to a four-length victory over Sword Dancer.

First Landing, the surprise slight favorite ridden by Eddie Arcaro, wound up ninth in the 83rd running of the classic.

It was the second major triumph in a row for horses raced in the golden state of California in the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

Tomy Lee, from the Pacific slopes, snatched the roses by a nose over Sword Dancer in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, but elected to skip Maryland's famous three-year-old contest.

Royal Orbit got into heaps of trouble when he made his late move in the derby behind tiring horses, and wound up fourth in a field of 17.

But Willie Harmatz, riding in a Preakness for the first time, gave a Pimlico crowd of 31,506 plenty to cheer about as the well-liked Sword Dancer was just another runner-up in the field of 11 starters.

The Claiborne Farm's Dunce, a disappointing seventh in the derby, came in third three lengths behind Sword Dancer and 2½ lengths ahead of L. G. Robinson's Marauder, the early pace setter.

Royal Orbit is owned by Helina Braunstein, a chic former New York actress and TV performer who lives in Beverly Hills, Calif. Her husband, Jacques Braunstein, died a few months ago.

She thinks Royal Orbit is the greatest race horse in the world, and was here to accept the record winner's check of $136,200. The largest net jackpot for a previous Preakness winner was the $98,005 hauled down by Calumet Farm's Faultless in 1947.

Royal Orbit, third choice in the mutuels, returned $15.20, $5.80 and $4.20 for $2.

Royal Orbit was clocked in 1:57 flat for the mile and 3-16ths on a fast track and under sunny skies in cool weather. This compared with the track record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in winning the 1955 Preakness.

Pale Hose Edge Yanks On Ennis' Single, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Ennis' 11th inning single gave the Chicago White Sox their eighth straight victory Saturday 4-3 over the New York Yankees after a costly 3-base error by Mickey Mantle in the ninth cost Bob Turley the triumph.

Nellie Fox walked and moved to second on Jim Landis' sacrifice to open the eleventh against Art Ditmar, third Yankee pitcher. After Sherm Lollar was walked intentionally, Ennis singled, scoring Fox.

Turley was within one out of a 3-2 victory in the ninth when Mantle misjudged Fox's fly ball and dropped it for a 3-base error. Turley walked Landis on a 3-2 pitch and Lollar singled past shortstop, driving in Landis with the tying run.

Chicago scored in the third on singles by Luis Aparicio and Fox and Landis' sacrifice fly. The White Sox stretched the lead to 2-0 in the fourth.

The Yanks got to Ray Moore for a run in the fourth and added two more in the seventh.

Johnny Thomson Wins Pole Position For 43rd 500-Mile Race

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP — Johnny Thomson, a tough little Scotsman from Boyertown, Pa., drove a radically different race car to an Indianapolis Motor Speedway one-lap record Saturday and earned the pole position for the 43rd 500-mile auto race May 30.

A crowd estimated at 90,000 saw Thomson, veteran of six 500s and 21 years of top level auto racing, push the record to 146.552 miles an hour. The old one-lap mark for the 49-year-old track was 146.508 set last year by Ed Elisian of Oakland, Calif.

Thomson's average for the 10-mile trial, 145.908, was a shade under the 145.974 record set last year by Dick Rathmann of San Gabriel, Calif., who did 144.248 in Saturday's trials.

The bright pink Thomson racer, built by Lujie Lesovsky of Inglewood, Calif., has the engine installed on its side with the drive shaft running down the right side of the car. The normal engine installation in speedway cars, either flat or tilted, puts the driveshaft on the left side.

The Pennsylvania veteran will share the front row on Memorial Day with Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., who qualified at 145.452 in a new Kuzma owned by Pete Schmidt of St. Louis, and Jim Rathmann, Dick's brother.

Jim Rathmann did 144.433 Saturday in the Hopkins Special in which he set a world's race record of 170.262 on the higher banked Daytona Beach track last month.

Ten Speedway veterans and two hot rookies made qualifying runs. Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, king of the country's dirt tracks, turned in the fifth best speed of 144.225 in his first shot at the 500 mile lineup.

Other qualifiers were Rodger Ward, Los Angeles; Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif.; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Gene Hartley, Indianapolis; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; rookie Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., and Dwane Carter, Indianapolis.

Trials to cut the 61 entrants to 33 starters will continue Sunday and next weekend.

Tony Bettenhausen, winner of more American "race car" races than any other active driver, suffered only a cut nose in an accident that occurred a few minutes before the scheduled start of qualifications.

The 42 year-old Tinley Park, Ill., veteran, who has been involved in 27 other wrecks, crashed into the southeast retaining wall during a practice run.

Wheaton Bags 12th Loop Title

WHEATON, Ill. (AP)— Wheaton College captured its 12th College Conference of Illinois track title in 13 years Saturday with a runaway total of 82 points. North Central was second with 45½.

Wheaton's Crusaders took six firsts and six seconds in the conference outdoor meet. This was Wheaton's last appearance as a conference member. The Crusaders will withdraw from the CCI Dec. 1.

Two meet records were tied. In the pole vault, Duane Slayton of Wheaton cleared 12 feet, 6 inches, matching the record set in 1958 by Tom Reichert of Carroll.

In the 220 dash, Boyd Bender of Elmhurst tied the meet record of :22.5 established by Bud Hollatz of Wheaton in 1956.

Third in the point standings was Elmhurst with 29½, followed by Carroll, 26; Augustana, 22½; Millikin, 8½; Lake Forest, 7½; Illinois Wesleyan, 3½.

Boy Scouts See Teacher Fall To His Death

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — A young high school teacher fell 125 feet to his death Saturday from a ledge in Starved Rock State Park. Five Boy Scouts he was leading on a hike watched the fall in horror.

The dead man was Ronald Schultz, 23, a teacher at Oak Lawn high school. Schultz was a novice hiker but volunteered to substitute for his brother, a Scout leader, on the expedition to the park.

Thirty Scouts of Troop 252, Forest Ridge, with five adult leaders, arrived Friday night at the 1,475-acre park which straddles the Illinois River 90 miles west of Chicago. They camped together Friday night and then split into small groups for treks through the park.

Schultz led five youths along Bluff Trail, in the center of the park, which leads to Wildcat Canyon.

(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone PI 2-5520)

Judy Klockenkemper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Klockenkemper of Batchtown, Don Wolfley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Wolfley, Sr. of Griggsville, Martha Marie Rawe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rawe of Carrollton and William Edward Boston III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boston of Jacksonville, were announced as winners of an all expense paid week in Washington, D. C., at the Rural Electric Cooperative essay contest finals Friday night. The four students who are juniors at their respective schools read their essays entitled "The REA Contribution to My Community" along with seven other finalists chosen earlier in the month from thirty-eight original entries at a dinner meeting held at Hotel Winchester.

The alert high school students who were accompanied by their parents read their essays which showed evidence of many hours spent on research and preparation before a panel of nine judges who were Richard Mann, state's attorney, Dale Hewitt, Scott County Farm Adviser, Paul Lehman of the First State Bank, Ted Forshey, Fred Evans, merchants, Mrs. L. Hieronymus, secretary to the County Superintendent of Schools, Mrs. Temple Grout, welfare worker, Mrs. Frank Redshaw, grade school teacher and Mrs. Albert Hainsfurther, Jr., reporter. The works were judged on information given, composition and general presentation.

Guests for the evening were introduced by Karl Longenbaugh, chairman of the local contest. Stanley Faris, manager of the local REA officer, told the group the contest was sponsored to promote the interest of young men and women in their community, their country, its people, industries and government. In gathering the information for the papers and compiling it, Mr. Faris stated, it was hoped that the students would learn of the changes that have taken place and are taking place in the country to make it a better place to live not only for the citizens of today but the children of the future.

Mr. Faris told the group of the many sites they will visit while in the capitol city—the two houses of Congress, Supreme Court, Hall of Justice, Jefferson-Lincoln Memorials, REA Headquarters, Smithsonian Institute, White House and many other important places of interest. With the thirty-two other winners of such a contest the local champions will leave Springfield, Illinois June 20 via bus with two married couples as chaperones and head for the busy city for a week of walking and seeing.

Cancer Crusade

Mrs. S. R. Faris, co-chairman of the Scott County 1959 Cancer Crusade, has announced that the $1,200 goal for Scott County was passed, with a total of $1,239.56 as of May 14, 1959.

She stated that 130 volunteer crusaders contacted over 2,000 Scott County families presenting the cancer story to them and calling on them for financial contributions to be used in carrying on the fight against this dreaded killer. These volunteer workers who have done such a great job on this campaign can derive a great deal of satisfaction from the fact that their work will result in saving lives through the early detection and prompt treatment of cancer, and they and the people who made financial contributions to the Cancer Crusade will help to make it possible to carry on the work and research that will eventually win the fight against cancer.

Mrs. Faris further stated that the credit for the success of the campaign must be shared with Dr. William O'Reilly, chairman of the Scott County Chapter, Stan Faris, co-chairman of the drive, Julia Wisdom, who took care of the banking, the precinct chairmen and the many volunteer workers.

The following are the precinct chairmen and the amounts reported as contributed in each precinct in the county up to May 14.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

HOG PRICES MAY RISE BEFORE MIDSUMMER

Hog prices followed opposite courses during the past two marketing years. In 1957-58 they went up from $16 in November to $23 in July. This year prices slipped from $18 in November to $15 in February. They have trended slightly upward since last February and may rise more in May and June.

Hog production and marketings have followed a very unusual pattern during the past 12 months. Farmers began a big increase in hog production with the 1958 fall pig crop. They saved about 42.5 million pigs, 17 percent more than the year before. This number was the most ever produced in any peacetime year, and it was 11 percent more than was produced in that big year of 1953.

Hog marketings usually reach their annual peak in the late fall, often in November. This year, weekly supplies followed normal trends until mid-January. Then, because of the large fall pig crop, marketings increased and held above the largest fall supplies for 10 weeks, or until late March. There was a normal reduction of market supplies near the end of March, and some further normal reduction is likely in May and June.

Output of pork was 28 percent greater in February than a year earlier. March output was up 1 percent from the previous month and 18 percent from the previous year. In April, it was down a little from the winter highs, but about 15 percent above the year before.

Market supplies now seem likely to shrink some 10 or 15 percent by the end of June, but the total volume for the 60-day period should be around 15 percent more than last year. The expected shrinkage should provide a little lift to prices in May or June.

In each of the past four years, hog prices have averaged higher in May than in April, and higher in June than in May. Highest monthly average prices occurred once in June, once in July and twice in August. June has the highest four-year average, $19.72. Prices have reached $20 every year since World War II except in 1956.

While the 1958 fall pig crop was big by any comparison, the 1959 spring crop does not appear to be outstanding. The estimate is outstanding. The estimate is around 59 million head, which would be 13 percent more than the small number saved in 1958. This number has been approached three times in the past 10 years and exceeded once—in 1951.

The number of "winter" (December-February) pigs saved in nine corn-belt states was only 11 percent more than the year before. The average number saved per litter was down about 2 percent from normal.

In March, farmers in nine corn-belt states reported that they would have only 9 percent more sows farrow in the three months March-May than they had last year. They also reported that they would have 9 percent more sows farrow in June-August this year. This increase is not great in itself, but it would be on top of the large increase already marked up in those months last summer.

Prices may hold up fairly well this fall. But if sow farrowings are increased substantially this fall and next spring, 1960 may be a poor year for hog producers.

Contrary to pupular thinking, pasture irrigation does not cause greater soil complication. This statement is based on University of Illinois research conducted at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station. Anamils grazing wet pastures will cause soil compaction, but natural rainfall is a greater factor and irrigation adds little to the problem.

Amounts of strontium-90 present in the nation's milk supply are far below permissible life-time levels. For this reason a University of Illinois dairy scientist explains that it is not necessary to remove milk from the diet because of fear of accumulating too much strontium-90.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

(A round-up of the week's work, activities and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by H. A. Cate).

Corn planting is the order of the day on the Dixon Springs Experiment Station. As rapidly as ground can be plowed, it is being planted.

Wheel-Track Planting

Hot on the heels of and pushing the plowing crew is the planting crew, which is using the wheel-track technique for planting. The rear wheels of the tractor pulling the planter are making the seedbed.

Four years of very satisfactory yields with minimum tillage on the plots prompted George McKibben, crops and soils researcher, to give wheel-track planting a field scale trial. Results last year were so convincing that this year George is going all-out. But, before an adequate job on a large scale could be done, Lee Phelps and Don Morris, station mechanics, had to rebuild a couple of the station's tractors so that the wheels would track for 40-inch rows.

Good Job of Plowing

For the best results with wheel-track planting, it is important to plow the best you can. Except for one or two cultivations, the corn crop will have no other tillage. Also, George feels that the plow should be followed closely by the planter before the soil dries and hardens, making clods in the row harder to break.

Planting Rate

Never can we expect to realize the potential of our soils if our corn plant population is too low. Of course, productivity levels of soils vary. Following are some guides: For soils with a potential of 60 bushels of corn an acre, shoot for a plant every 18 inches in rows spaced 40 inches apart. For an 80-bushel soil, space plants 13 inches apart. For 100-bushel soil use a spacing of about 10 inches. To determine whether you planted about right last year, pull some sample ears from the crib and weigh them. If ears weight about ¼ pound, the planting rate was about right.

Feeder Pig Sale

On Tuesday, April 28, about 1,100 pigs were consigned by members of the Egyptian Livestock Association for sale at Dixon Springs. These pigs sold for an average of about $14.00 a head. Sale toppers were some 50- to 60-pound pigs that brought 32½ cents a pound.

Wool Pool

Last year nearly 100 wool growers around the station consigned about 23,000 pounds of wool to the Dixon Springs wool pool. An average price of 41 cents a pound for all grades of wool, including tags, was paid last year. This was about 10 cents higher than separate on-the-farm bids. So local wool producers are planning another pool this year. Wool will be received for grading on Tuesday, May 26.

CARROLLTON ATHLETES COMPETE AT TRACK MEET

CARROLLTON—Ronnie Carter tied for fourth place in the broad jump and Jack Keller finished 4th in the 880 yard run May 8 at the state district track meet held at Pana with approximately 35 schools participating.

Keller's time was 2:04.9 just a tenth of a second off the Carrollton school record. Carter also finished sixth in the 220 yard dash and Gary Reif finished 6th in the shot put. Larry Walker competing in the high jump finished among the final seven competitors.

Farmers who want high corn yields should plant about 15 percent more seed than the actual stand they expect to harvest. Why? Cold wet soils, insects, diseases and cultivation losses usually add up to a planting loss of about 15 percent.

Day Of The Sun

In a world of clamor and turmoil, of frienzied pace and breathless confusion, men of good will everywhere may be thankful for the quality of Sunday.

Millions of Americans these days travel the length and breadth of their own land. Millions, too, see Europe, and increasing numbers see Asia, South America and Africa.

These lucky ones know for themselves what the rest of their countrymen can readily imagine. Sunday is everywhere the same.

It's more, much more, than just a time of rest and worship.

It's a welcome space, in an age when men find fewer and fewer spaces in their crowded days.

On Sundays, men recover some of the dignity they cast to the winds in the week-long competitive struggle.

They have time to think, a rarer and rarer experience for many nowadays. They can take stock, reflect, see themselves and their lives in some sort of perspective.

The full riches of family living pour in upon them. Sunday is a day of companionship, of long walks and talks, of smoothing the raw edges gouged in one's feelings in the battles of the working day.

Sunday is a magic pause when life renews itself a little. You can feel it in the air on a farm road in Iowa, on a boulevard in Chicago, a park in Paris, a winding coastal highway in Portugal, anywhere at all.

Sunday is just different. If it should ever cease to be, then man should take alarm. For he may be in danger of losing the crowning spirit that makes him what he is.

'Alf A Mo' Now, Gov'nors

Paris is famed, of course, for its wild traffic. It doesn't flow like a deep river. It swirls and eddies and plunges like a rapids.

You never hear too much, though, about the cars that go tumbling along in this torrent. If you've ever gotten a good look at a French taxi you'll understand why. Most of them surely are fugitives from the automobile graveyards, rattling affairs put together from old parts.

The London taxi is quite a different thing. Small, prim, invariably black, defiantly Victorian in its angular styling, it cruises the city as a constant reminder to Londoners of their love of tradition.

Step inside one of these, and you feel like you're entering a corner of a staid gentleman's club. Black leather upholstery with deep-set buttons, a faint air of the elegance of former times.

We hear now that after four years of sober study, Scotland Yard has approved plans for new "streamlined" London cabs. Edges are rounded off, windows are bigger, the interior is a bit roomier.

Pictures suggest the new departure really isn't too radical. It's still black and prim and conservative. But watch it, you fellows over there. In this shaky world we don't like to see props knocked out from under us for no real reason. We expect a London taxi to look like a London taxi.

A Glance Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

A Greene county grand jury yesterday indicted Carson Segar and Curtis S. Chapman for first degree murder. They are charged with killing Howard A. Heininger.

The city council last night accomplished the first reading of an ordinance to improve the Jacksonville loop. The project will cost $298,157.

20 YEARS AGO

Bud Six finished eight years at Oxville school with a perfect attendance.

A district PTA school of instruction was held here today with 75 officers and chairmen present. Mrs. M. M. Barlow presided.

50 YEARS AGO

William Sharpe of Pike county was over our way yesterday in the interest of a large Mexican land syndicate with which he is connected.

A. C. Moffet, a Waverly banker, was looking over matters in the city yesterday.

The Lunatics blew up again yesterday and are now in the Central League cellar. They have won only one game so far.

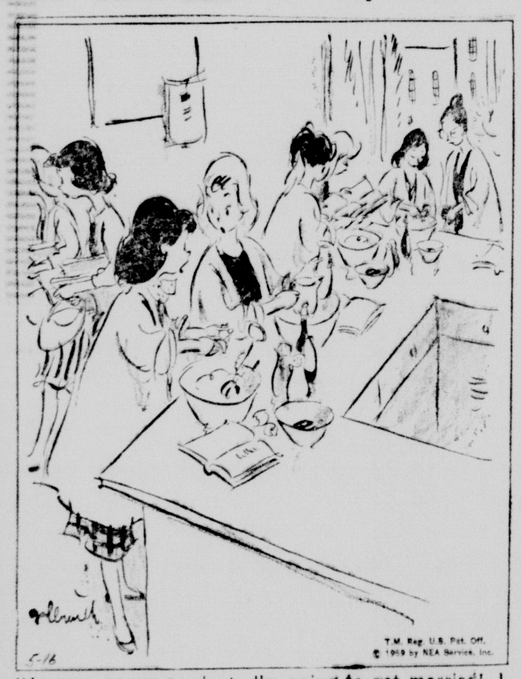

75 YEARS AGO

Dr. Woods, of Jenkinson's, is organizing a cricket, which is the national game of England.

Corn planting is being carried on now with great energy.

D. H. Lollis & Co. of Meredosia have a large force of carpenters engaged in tearing down the old American hotel.

Manners Make Friends

If you are invited to a large party where you are acquainted with many of the guests, move around and talk to as many persons as you can. You're obliged to help the hostess make the party successful.

WHENCE IT CAME

The expression "to make one the goat" comes from the word "scapegoat." Under Biblical law, the sins of the people were placed upon the head of a goat, which then was permitted to escape into the wilderness, thus absolving the people from their wrongdoing.

Gather Ye Rosebuds—Casual Look—Yes and No—Con-Yak—Ruble-ing It In—Hee-Haw—Reckoning

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— The White House is probably the most flower conscious household in the country.

Everytime Mamie tosses a party, she loads the room with flowers of the same color and wears clothes to match. Her favorite posies are pink carnations and pink roses. She keeps fresh roses in her room all the time.

Ike is nuts about yellow flowers, especially glads and mums. Although he doesn't dress to match his favorites, he has fresh flowers placed in his office each day.

The White House Secret Service men are flower conscious, too.

When a big wreath was sent to Ike by telegraph recently, the bodyguards swarmed all over it with a detector. They were searching for hidden bombs.

MORE AND MORE big shots in Washington go hatless. When Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone arrived at the Press Club for a luncheon meeting the other day, neither he nor any of the AEC members and their top advisers wore a hat.

Remarked Commissioner John F. Floberg, "I've got an old beat-up job I wear on rainy days, but the last hat I had on was a high silk one, for a diplomatic reception."

AEC CHAIRMAN McCone, pointing out that an official last word on atomic fallout had just been issued, summed it up by saying that there had been no "dangerous" increase. But he couldn't guarantee that no one had been harmed.

"I can't even say that a little fallout is not harmful," he declared.

"Radiation is a lot like whiskey and sunshine. You can take a little. But if that leads to too much, the little is dangerous."

FRENCH COGNAC promoters here are determined to make Winston Churchill as crazy about their product as he is about missile-length cigars. During his last two visits to the U.S., they have presented him with several bottles of the French brandy.

Following the 1954 visit, a cognac representative met one of Churchill's aides in London. "Did your boss like the present we gave him in Washington?", the promoter asked.

"Oh, definitely," the aide replied. "He gave orders to make sure the bottles he didn't drink at Blair House were shipped back to England safely."

"Cognac must be his favorite drink," the promoter said hopefully.

"Not exactly," the aide answered. "Sir Winston drinks anything."

PEOPLE WHO see red over not being able to get a ticket for the visiting Soviet Bolshoi ballet can blame it on the Russians.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov reserved 100 seats for the affair. He says that he could have used more but 100 was the limit. Those reservations are included in the contract which the Kremlin signed with U. S. impressario Sol Hurok.

Russian Embassy staff members don't seem to mind having to pay for their tickets. More than 150 showed up at the box office soon after tickets went on sale. They paid for their seats in cold capitalistic cash.

REPUBLICANS are having the last laughs over Democratic failure to override President Eisenhower's veto of a bill which would have denied Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson the right to disapprove Rural Electrification Administration loans.

The record showed that in the six and a half years Secretary Benson has been in office, he has never killed one loan after the application had been approved by REA.

This made it obvious the Democrats weren't trying to correct any abuse of power. They were just trying to embarrass Benson and play a little politics. The effort backfired on them.

SENATE Permanent Investigations Subcommittee members were arguing with a witness about the accuracy of his profit estimates. Suddenly the debate switched to the subject of an earlier witness who had cracked up under questioning.

In an effort to get the hearing back on finances, Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) quipped to the witness:

"I think your emotions are okay. It's your mathematics that are off."

Sometimes You Have to Stand Up to Teen-Agers

You can't do your duty as a parent if you've let your teen-age children make you afraid of being "out of it."

If you listen to your kids' ideas of what their friends will think of you if you stand up for what you believe is right and insist that the teen-agers who come to your home act like ladies and gentlemen, you're sunk.

You might as well be another teen-ager if you are going to accept their standards instead of upholding your own.

The breakdown of adult authority and influence comes in many small and subtle ways.

You let a teen-age party get out of hand because you don't want to be regarded as a wet blanket. You say nary a word when your children's friends annoy the neighbors by sitting in cars and honking horns instead of getting out and coming to the door.

You can't seem to say "No" when your own teen-ager, surrounded by several of his friends, asks to go some place or do something common sense tells you isn't a good idea.

You find out the names of the teen-agers who destroy your property "just for kicks" — but let your own teen-ager convince you that if you notify their parents he'll never be able to live it down.

You let teen-agers disregard the simple rules of courtesy in your own home without a word of protest because you are so afraid that if you insist on courtesy they might not want to come back.

You are reluctant to put in a good word for their teachers and school authorities when teen-agers are running them down.

If you find some of their slang offensive, you keep quiet.

You're trying so hard to please the teen-agers you forget that what was once considered important was for young people to please their elders. And then you wonder why young people today seem to have so little respect for adults.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is only realistic to expect very little from the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva or, if it is held later, from a summit meeting between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev.

The following possibilities seem all that can be expected from all the discussions for a long time:

1. The West and the Soviet Union eventually may reach some agreement to stop nuclear weapons testing to avoid fallout dangers; and they may find some way of easing their dispute over West Berlin.

2. If the talks can continue without an explosion, there may be what diplomats like to call an easing of tensions. That's a phrase made of rubber. It could turn out to be real and helpful. It could prove to be a dangerous myth.

Here are some reasons for not expecting sensational agreements, starting with the broadest problem — disarmament — and going on to the discussions at Geneva now among the foreign ministers of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France.

A truly broad disarmament agreement seems out of the question for years. The West is hugely outnumbered by the Communist world in military manpower. The only thing the West has to offset the numerical superiority is nuclear weapons.

So long as the West and the Soviets retain nuclear weapons, talk of a general disarmament is more idealistic than practical. But isn't it possible the two sides may agree on banning nuclear weapons, too? Not for a long, long time.

Nuclear testing may be detected. But scientists now have no way of detecting stockpiles of nuclear weapons which a nation wants to conceal. So even if both sides agreed never to use nuclear weapons in war, this would be the result:

Neither side could feel safe about the promise unless both sides destroyed their nuclear weapon supplies. But neither side could be sure such a promise was carried out, when neither can tell whether the other cheated and has secretly stored such weapons for future use.

At Geneva both sides are making proposals, each with its own interests in mind:

The Soviets want the West to recognize the Communist government of East Germany as the legitimate government of that country. The West refuses.

Such recognition would suit the Soviets because it would strengthen the Communist grip on East Germany and all the other European satellites. Any hope the people in those countries still had for freedom from Red rule would be badly diminished.

But the West wants to keep hope alive in the satellite peoples. Further, the big Western powers are allied with West Germany which wants the two Germanys united and hopes such unification will mean a Germany linked with the West.

At Geneva the West unveiled a program for eventual unification, with the people of the two Germanys voting on the kind of government they want.

The West seems to have no doubt of the outcome—a government linked with the West—or it wouldn't have made such an offer. Further, in any voting the West Germans would outnumber the East Germans by better than two to one.

Khrushchev already has said he wouldn't let Communist East Germany go capitalist. So while there may be a lot of gambling at Geneva over the Western proposal — which the Soviets have scorned — the proposal seems doomed.

The Soviets want the Western Big Three to get their troops out of West Berlin. No wonder. That part of Berlin is 100 miles within Communist East Germany. It's the most real and advanced Western outpost inside the Communist world.

It's a constant beacon of hope for East Germans who want to flee to the West. It dispels any doubts of those East Germans that the West is standing fast against total Soviet domination of East Germany.

But the West insists, for the reasons given, plus others, that it won't pull its troops out of Berlin. And the deadlock remains.

Matter of FACT

No one knows when or where irrigation was first practiced, but it was probably among the Egyptians. On old monuments, dating back 4,000 years, are pictures of men bailing water out of the Nile to pour over their thirsty fields. In Assyria, Babylonia, China and India, also, irrigation was practiced thousands of years ago. The Greeks irrigated their fields and the Romans started the systems of Italy, among the best in the world.

Attention to a Few Details Makes Home a Safer Place

BY MARIE DAEP

Mr. and Mrs. B. want to buy or build a house that will serve them well in their retirement years.

What should they look for?

Safety and comfort, says the University of Illinois Small Homes Council in its new "Check-List for Retirement Housing."

Older people don't have unique needs, according to the council. Instead, what they need is just refinement of what everybody should have.

Some small basic design requirements can spell the difference between independence for grandma and some kind of institutional living in the later years.

Stairs that a young adult finds hard to climb may be impossible for an older person, the council points out. A slippery walk may mean a bruise for a younger person, a broken hip for an older one.

Here are some of the council's tips on:

Site: Stay away from spots with lots of traffic or with wide and dangerous crossings. Be sure there's room for a porch or terrace, shade trees and a small area for gardening.

Walks and steps: All steps should have handrails. One or two steps are easily overlooked. Where possible, there should be no difference in level between inside floors and porches and terraces. Remember that walking up stairs uses three times more energy than walking on level ground.

Floors: Avoid use of throw rugs and interior door thresholds.

Hallways and doors: Stay away from spring-activated and double-acting doors. Hinged doors should open into a room, never into a line of traffic or toward a flight of steps.

Closets and storage: It shouldn't be necessary to climb on chairs or other objects to reach shelves.

Windows, the council advises, should open and close easily. Lighting should be planned carefully, keeping in mind that older people like more light. Being less active than the youngsters, they also require more heat.

Locate bathroom close to bedrooms, the council advises.

Kitchens should be designed to cut down on routine cleaning tasks and physical effort. Open cabinet doors, sharp edges and projecting hardware often cause injuries.

Q—I am 73. I've never done any kind of work that would give me Social Security credits. This year, however, I have had a little business that I can list as self-employment. Is it true that if I make $400 or more a year at my business, I can accumulate credits?—O. E. S.

A—Any business which nets you at least $400 a year can give you Social Security credits. You will need a total of six quarters to make yourself eligible for benefits. I suggest that during the second year of your business operation you visit your nearest Social Security office to determine your status.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

The Glory of Solomon

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Biblical heroes loom large in the life and imagination of a boy brought up, as I was, in a home where the Bible was the chief, and almost the only, book. Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," in a delightful pictorial edition, was alongside it, but there were no works of fiction, and I remember my parents' questioning attitude when Charles Dickens' "David Copperfield" was assigned by the school for home-reading.

It was not that my parents were narrow-minded or unenlightened, and we had in our home the finest publications of Canadian Methodism of the time. It was a part of a serious and somewhat puritanical outlook on life, and a feeling against "worldliness."

It was in the Bible, therefore, that not only I, but many small boys, first discovered their heroes.

The historic and legendary life of peoples and nations has accounted for a large literature, but I doubt whether there is anything comparable to the continuous, detailed, vivid account of the Jews in their ancient homeland and surrounding empires as is found in the Old Testament. It is supremely the source-book of hero worship.

I think that it is in David and Solomon that boyish hero-interest in the Old Testament chiefly centers.

I think, too, that this interest is in the glamorous aspects of both Kings, to the disregard or exclusion of the darker and tragic aspects that are more emphasized in the adult reading of the incidents.

Of King Solomon the outstanding fact for the boy was that he was "the wisest man that ever lived," a tradition not so verified by later reading. It was based on the story of Solomon's choice of wisdom (I Kings 3:5-14), the attributing to him of the wise sayings of Proverbs, and the incident of the judgment of the two women claiming a baby.

In general it has, perhaps, been too much disregarded that Solomon's choice of wisdom was in a dream and in conflict with the unwisdom of his actual life and reign.

Of David, a boy's hero worship related mostly to his earlier life without much notice of the fact that his chief greatness was as King of Israel, which he became only after the greater part of his life had passed, including his years as an outlaw. A child could hardly appreciate the fact that David took over a nation in ruins and built it into a strong and powerful heritage for Solomon, his son.

But despite the aspects of glory and triumph, and the magnificence of Solomon in his extension of the kingdom, in his building of temples and palaces, and his reputation for wisdom, the glory was tarnished, and the greatness went down in civil war, disruption and eventual destruction of one kingdom, and the downfall of another in exile.

However, small boys became acquainted with the Bible, and their reading became a basis for adult enlightment.

There is much in the Bible and in other history that goes far beyond boyish hero worship.

Jellied Tomato Broth Is A California Suggestion

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Warmer weather calls for new surprises for the winter-weary appetite. Here are three suggestions, all given special interest by the use of wine as an ingredient.

California Jellied Tomato Broth
(Makes about 3½ cups)

Three cups tomato juice, 2 bouillon cubes, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion or ¼ cup chopped raw onion, ½ cup celery leaves or pieces, 5 whole cloves, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 envelope plain gelatin, 1 cup rose wine, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, ¼ cup thinly sliced celery (optional), commercial sour cream.

Combine tomato juice, bouillon cubes, onion, celery, cloves, sugar, salt and pepper. Bring to boil, lower heat and simmer about 15 minutes; strain. Stir gelatin into wine and let stand until softened. Add to hot tomato mixture and stir until dissolved. Cool, add lemon juice and sliced celery and chill until mixture is jellier. Spoon into chilled cups and serve with topping of sour cream.

Pick-Me-Up Clam Cocktail

One 8 ounce bottle clam juice, 1 cup vegetable juice cocktail, 2 dashes Tabasco, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt, Pepper and paprika, dash of cayenne.

Combine all ingredients. Chill well and serve chilled.

Croque Michel (Makes 2)

Four pieces toast, ½ pound American cheese, 1 4½-ounce can deviled ham, butter for frying, 4 ounces Madeira wine.

Place 2 pieces of toast in hot butter in frying pan. Put ½ pound cheese on each piece of toast and top cheese with deviled ham. Cover with remaining toast. Fry until cheese starts to melt, then turn over and brown other side. Pour wine over top of toast and serve piping hot.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Clam cocktail, cold roast beef, horseradish sauce, scalloped potatoes, asparagus, enriched bread, butter or margarine, rhubarb pie, coffee, tea, milk.

20 Morgan County Farms Signed For Conservation Plan

Since the initiation of the conservation reserve program in 1956 and through the 1959 period, 351,004 acres have been placed in the reserve program in Illinois. To get some idea of the area to be devoted to conservation uses, one could compare this acreage to the size of Morgan county. If all of Morgan County should be placed in the conservation reserve program, it would be approximately the same acreage that is being devoted to conservation use in the State of Illinois.

Morgan county has twenty farms signed in the conservation reserve program. The area in this county is being placed in permanent cover, trees, and ponds. Some of the farms have listed only a few fields while others have placed the entire cropland acreage in the Reserve. However, those that placed only one or two fields in the Reserve are restricted on the total acreage of base crops allowed on the remaining acreage. Pasture land is not considered as a part of the Conservation Reserve Contract and may be used for grazing purposes.

Contracts for areas planted to trees run for ten years. Contracts on permanent cover are for five years, while contracts on areas where the permanent cover is already established runs for a period of three years.

In Morgan County, rental payments for the acreage involved will amount to 28,452 dollars. Practice payments will be 10,334 dollars for the acreage where it is necessary to establish permanent cover. This includes preparation of the ground for seeding, spreading of limestone, rock phosphate, and potash, where soil tests show it is needed and seeding to grasses or grasses with some legumes added. Other practices in addition to those mentioned as being used in Morgan County are tree planting for erosion prevention, planting for wildlife cover, and fish ponds. These are being used in many of the counties in the State.

The southern end of the State has a much greater area signed in the conservation reserve than the local area.

PIKE SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD ISSUES WARNING

PITTSFIELD—All young men are required by law to register with the Selective Service within five days after reaching their 18th birthday. This warning was issued this week by Glenn Neese, chairman of Pike County Local Board No. 182, located at 201½ E. Washington Street, Pittsfield.

Mr. Neese said the obligation to register applies not only to citizens of the United States but also to aliens, except a few exempt by law. A man may register at any Selective Service local board. If away from home a man may register at the nearest local board anywhere in the United States.

Raggedy Ann

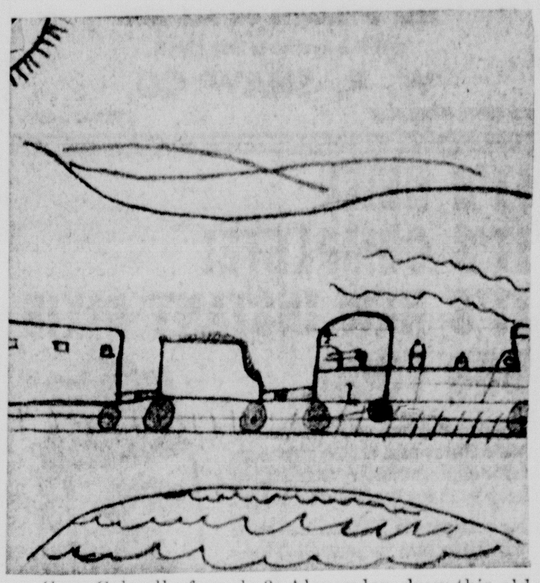

Here is "Raggedy Ann' drawn by Karen Rutherford, age 7, Winchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rutherford.

More drawings next Sunday so keep watching for yours and for those of your friends.

Old Fashioned Train

Gary Colwell of grade 3, Alexander, drew this old-fashioned train with it's wide smoke stack. Trains were made like this in the long-ago days when engines burned wood, and the tall wide-topped stacks gave the wood sparks time to stop burning before they blew out with the smoke. (This way the wood sparks did not set things on fire.)

If you too like to draw, send in a picture—just 4 inches square—and all your own work to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier. Be sure and give your name, address and age.

Brave Little Rebel

Chapter 7: New Friend?

"Oh, no, Mam," Emmy Lou hurried to inform her. "Mrs. Effie Duncan, the lady who came with me, had to go back into the train to see about our baggage. She told us to wait right here until she returned."

"Oh, well," Mrs. Culp sighed in relief. "I just couldn't help wonderin' when I found you alone here in the station. Simon," she turned calling to the boy, "hurry yourself onto that train and see if you can be of some help to Mrs. Duncan."

But as Simon turned to obey his mother's command, Mrs. Duncan, herself, descended from the train and approached the little group.

"They'll be along presently with the baggage," she informed Emmy Lou.

"Howdy, Miz Duncan," greeted Mrs. Culp as she extended her hand in friendship. "I'm Elvira Culp. We've already met Emma Lou. Not in as pleasant a way as I'd have liked, but as soon as we all settle down, I'm sure we'll get along fine.

"I'm glad to meet you Mrs. Culp," answered Mrs. Duncan. "And this boy," she went on, as she turned toward Simon, "Is he your boy? Mrs. Thomas didn't say a thing about you having a son."

Boys Like Pranks

"Yes, he's ours," admitted Elvira Culp. "Guess we forgot to mention him in our letters. He's generally a pretty good boy. But you know boys, they have to have a little prank now and then to "liven things up a bit."

"Yes," Mrs. Duncan agreed. "So I've heard. But really I don't know much about boys."

"When he's around his Daddy, he toes the mark then, I can tell you. Noah makes him behave, he does that," she assured them. "But here now, we're standin' out here in the cold while this poor child is shiverin' 'til her little teeth chatter."

"Oh, yeah," agreed Mrs. Duncan becoming conscious of the cold at last.

"Let's go inside the station where we can talk more comfortably. The porter will come there to tell me when our baggage has been removed, and I want to make arrangements to have things taken out to my sister's house."

The whole group, followed by the grinning Simeon, turned and walked briskly toward the station door. Emma Lou, still shaken, tightly clutched Mrs. Culp's hand.

A boyish voice, low and threatening, whispered into her ear as she passed him. "Just you wait 'till you get home."

Emmy Lou shuddered to think what was the coming weeks might bring to her from this boy who so obviously disliked girls.

The New Home

Emmy Lou opened her eyes sleepily the next morning and stared at the ceiling of the little bedroom. Even yet it sometimes took her a moment on waking to realize just where she was. A little brown bird perched on the window sill, ran on in a line of constant chatter, as she instructed her mate in the fine art of nest building.

Emma Lou smiled and sat up to watch the busy little birds. It was plain to see they were intent on building a new nest under the eaves of the house.

The sun was shining brightly and the air was unusually warm for as early in the day. Spring had really come to Nebraska at long last. The apple trees in the back yard were in full bloom, and their pale pink blossoms sweetly perfumed the air. She could hear the dull steady buzz of the bees, as they gathered sweet nectar from the cherry blossoms under her window.

Here it was the last of June already, and still they had not started on toward Wyoming. Several wagons from Indiana, which were to join the group in Lincoln had not arrived, and Noah Culp refused to leave without them. Last week, however, Uncle Noah, as Emmy Lou now called Mr. Culp, had received a letter saying they were on their way, and should arrive sometime this week.

Next: Chapter 8, Friends after All.

CORRECTION: In the poem "God's Plan" by Sharon Pinson, which appeared May 3, the line "God's lively plan" should have read "God's lovely plan."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

In The Wake Of The Storm

By Mary Pence Claywell

No more the stately apple tree
Will blush in early June,
With soft pink satin blossoms . . .
Like a bride . . . dressed for her groom:
No more drop down its treasures
Of fruits so rich and sweet . . .
Like unto Solomon's glory . . .
Around small, bare brown feet:

It's broken and dejected . . .
Its twisted limbs hang low,
Just like the tattered garments
Of . . . a weary . . . old hobo!

Let's Go Birding

FOUR TAILS

By Emma Mae Leonhard

It was certainly Wren morning on April 26. Although only six species of wrens visit us in this area anytime of the year, four of those six we had the privilege of seeing from one spot in Diamond Grove cemetery.

At first the House Wren, or Jenny Wren if you wish, tuned up in a small dogwood tree. You are certainly familiar with the chattering and the rapid burst of bubbling energy which proceed from this little brown bird.

The House Wren is everybody's pet, and Jenny Wren doesn't have to look far for a house to build a nest in.

Very soon from a nearby brushy section rolled out a long drawn-out trill "chirrrrrr." We recognized this as the alarm call of our largest wren, the Carolina Wren.

Then as if competition with our House Wren, he also rolled out his song, which speaks different messages to different people: "toodle-wee," or "wilikee, wilikee," or "tea-kettle, tea-kettle." Perhaps you have heard your version of this song on the coldest day of winter, for the Carolina Wren is a permanent resident with us here.

Then we caught from a distance the clear, strong, and cheery song of the Bewick's Wren. It didn't take us long to find this rival singer who was perched in the top of a small tree, flirting his fan-like, white-tipped tail from side to side. This when would always win in a singing contest with the House Wren.

Very Special Wren

However, we had come to this brushy place in the cemetery to find a very special wren which had been reported as seen the Saturday before, one that is comparatively rare here, the Winter Wren. We knew what to examine, the lower parts of trees or entangled shrubs; we also knew that he had to be quick; for it slips and darts around very rapidly, and it is so tiny, about an inch shorter than is the House Wren.

Although we really did not expect to find it again, we kept looking, all the while listening to the outbursts of the three cousins: the Carolina, the Bewick's, and the House. And then it appeared, this "very small round Wren," as Roger Tory Peterson describes it.

We recognized it immediately as it slipped lightly and gracefully around the bottom of the tree trunk and in tangles of low shrubbery and brush lying nearby. It was hard to keep up with.

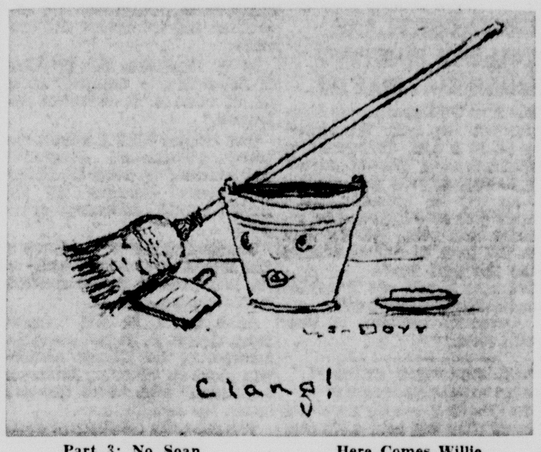

The best identification of all was its little stubby tail, which it cocked continuously over its back. Although the House Wren also has the habit of cocking its tail over its back, its tail is moderately long; and he droops this expressive tail when he sings.

The Bewick's tail is slim, long, fan-like, and white-tipped, which this wren flirts from side to side constantly. The Carolina seems to wave its pert tail straight in the air except when it's singing.

The tails of the four cousins seem to speak a different language, but they talk,

Willie And His Dog

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

Part 3: No Soap

"Doesn't Mr. Laree have any soap?" Seal questioned; certainly he and his dog were as dusty and grimy as the road.

"He washes his clothes without it," the bar of soap explained. "Whenever the creek is high he ties one cuff to a willow branch on this side and the other cuff to a twig on the other side, then the fresh water runs through his shirt all day. It is clean enough for him."

Even the tired broom smiled.

"How do you know all that?" Seal asked his damp friend in the saucer.

"Why, his dog told me."

Interested Seal thumped his tail gaily, then "Clang!" the parred broom tumbled across the bucket, the bucket rolled off the porch and the dustpan rattled face down to the floor, only the soap dish sat unmoved.

Here Comes Willie

The noise brought Willie around the corner, he picked up the bucket and carried it to its place. Grandmother trotted to the doorway to stand the broom and the dustpan against the wall.

Meanwhile, Seal lightly flicked the soap with his tongue and put his paw under one side of the saucer to drain the oozy water away. No one said any thing except Grandmother as she wiped out the soapy dribbles.

"It must be going to storm," she guessed.

When only the cleaning things and Seal could hear, the broom predicted "It is,—I feel it in my stick. Mr. Laree will wash tomorrow, too, you must tell us about it Seal, but walk on the grass, don't make us clean this porch again!"

C Q Radio Hams —

Novice Ticket Steps

By Joseph A. Smith

First Project

How are you coming along in your start toward mastering the code? Fine no doubt. Its importance can not be overemphasized for you will be using it to communicate with fellow "Hams" once you receive that NOVICE ticket.

Don't become discouraged if it seems pretty tough at first. It is for most everyone! Just keep plugging along EVERY DAY! Since some learn faster than others, you can adopt the suggested schedule of study to your own pace.

Never proceed from one study group (or suggested daily groups) until that particular part is thoroughly understood and mastered. Yet real mastery of the alphabet will come with Daily Practice over a period of time; this also will vary with the individual. Several hundred thousands have mastered it; so will you, my reader, in time.

While we must read and study simple basic radio theory and learn the code, we can make learning fun if we are financially able to build radio gear. We will not only learn how it is put together, but a lot about what makes it tick at the same time.

While it is certainly better to use all new parts, oftentimes the budget just won't allow this; so often junked radios and T.V. sets will supply good, used, but useful parts don't forget. Too you may be able to swap or barter with fellow radio enthuiasts for some of the needed parts.

Good Starter

A good First project is always a crystal receiver for the broadcast band. While many commercially made kits are available, such sets can be made of junk box parts too.

An example of such a receiver was printed in an earlier article in this paper. Plans for such a set might possibly be obtained from the Junior High Radio Club leader, Mr. Alquist (K9FOH).

Of course a long wire antenna and a good ground (water pipe or outside earth ground) must be used.

You should receive W.L.D.S. during the day, and possibly Springfield (WMAY) or St. Louis, Mo. (KMOX) at night. You would be wise to buy a dual headphone set if at all possible as they will, naturally, provide more volume.

For study this week we suggest the following: CODE:

Mon: Study correct character spacing and timing—PP. 17 & 18. Carefully! Then Review Lesson No. 2 in receiving on page 39. Naturally the material should be practiced with the code oscillator.

Tues: Review and master lesson No. 2.

Wed: Study Lesson No. 3 in receiving on page 39 & 40.

Thurs: Review & master lesson No. 3.

Fri: Use this time for an over all review of Both previous lessons.

Sat: Take a break; emphasize theory, or finish your construction project.

Theory: Mon: Study "Resonance." If an A.R.R.L. Handbook is available, you may consult it for information about how the crystal radio works.

Tues: Read carefully "Vacuum Tubes." At this point the crystal set could be rewired to a 1-tube radio. A good example may be found in the Boy Scout Merit Badge Pamphlet on Radio, Kits also are available.

Wed: Read "Diodes and Power Supplies." Also "The Filter."

Thurs: Study "The Triode Vacuum Tube." Also "Selectivity."

Fri: Reading "Detection" next will help us understand how a 1—tube radio works.

Sat: Review the week's material and or finish any construction project underway.

One of the best ways of getting code practice is to actually copy it from a short-wave receiver. More of this next week.

Placed on a map of the United States, Ethiopia, the African kingdom, would stretch from Maine to South Carolina and from New York City to Iowa.

TULIP TREE

By Rip Barnsdall

The leaves of this tree give it its name. The flowers are light green on the outside, but have deep orange splotchs on the inside of the petals. It blooms about the middle of May.

The tulip tree is considered to be one of our finest forest trees. It is to the eastern United States what the sequoia is to the Pacific coast area.

The tulip tree is Indiana's state tree.

Space Guard Serial—

DESTINATION EARTH

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Chapter 1: Rocket Launching on Venus

"Forty seconds till zero," the unvarying voice of the blast-off control officer came over the loud speaker of the space lift rocket.

"Ho-hum," said Jerry Symons stretching, "another launching. I'd be tempted to take a nap during blast-off if I wasn't afraid that some of the tenderfeet on this flight would think a Space Guard Ensign passed out from the acceleration."

"Yes," agreed Ed Speedwell, "these launchings get pretty dull after you've been a passenger on several of them. Especially when we've already seen what Venus looks like from a rising rocket on our return flight from Hesperus."

While Ed and Jerry were talking the blast-off control officer was continuing the count-down and now he was counting off the last few seconds till blast off, "10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1-0."

Muffled Boom

Instead of the usual roar of the first stage motors that usually followed zero a muffled boom shook the rocket. Soon after the boom smoke began to billow past the port holes of the passenger section.

"Your attention please," the voice of the rocket's pilot came over the loud speaker," there is a small fire in one of the motors of the first stage, but there is no cause for alarm. The fire is already being put out. As soon as it is extinguished the gantry crane will be brought back so that you can leave the space ship.

"Until the gantry is brought up keep calm and follow all instructions. If you look through the port holes you will notice that the smoke is already being replaced by steam. This means that the firemen have the blaze under control."

"Boy, I'm glad that pilot's in this end of this rocket," said Jerry, "if he were at the other end he'd have set the fuel tanks on fire with his hot air."

"Now, Jerry," replied Ed, "you know he was just doing it to keep the tenderfeet on board from getting panicky."

"Sure I do. Besides I don't think that they were the only ones the pilot had to keep calm, but he seems to have done it. Here comes the gantry."

"Hey, the gantry seems to be falling down!" exclaimed Ed, "this rocket must be tilting ov—"

Ed's voice was drowned out by the roar of the third stage motors. This noise drowned out in turn by a deafening boom.

Honor Past Presidents On Twentieth Anniversary Of Junior Woman's Club

The 20th anniversary of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's club was observed at the final meeting at the Dunlap Hotel May 11.

After a lovely dinner, with tables decorated with multicolored nosegays made of gumdrops and doilies, President Mrs. Jack Mathews introduced the honored guests of the evening, the past presidents of Junior Woman's club.

As each past president was introduced by the officers, a resume of her year in office was given, which gave all members an insight as to how the club had begun, continued and progressed.

Each one was presented in the order they were in office: Mrs. Howard Davenport, Mrs. Claude Davis, Mrs. Luke Zeller, Mrs. Eulala Ryan, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Warren Massey, Mrs. Robert Herr, Mrs. Bernard Ferry, Mrs. K. E. Vasconcellos and Mrs. William Henry. All were present except Mrs. Marjorie Graves.

The program chairman, Mrs. Lyndon Heaton very cleverly presented the "outstanding Junior member" by showing slides of the selected girl from infancy to the present day. The member chosen was Mrs. Robert Bonjean, mother of four children, who was selected for her qualities of interest, cooperation and participation.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Mrs. Ben Lampitt led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Robert Shannon.

Each member of the board was asked to give a final report. A copy of the board's 1958-1959 final report of activities was given to each member.

Mrs. Robert Hembrough and Mrs. James Grant had attended the state federation convention in Chicago, May 6, 7, 8. They each gave reports.

Mrs. Jack Mathews, president, gave her final report of the year's activities and was then presented with a gift from the board.

Mrs. Robert Herr, past president, conducted the installation of the officers and gave the duties of the office to be filled.

The retiring president gave the new president, Mrs. Robert Bonjean her pin and gavel, who in turn gave Mrs. Mathews a past president's pin.

The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Howard Davenport, the Junior club's first president. The meeting was adjourned for the summer to meet again in September.

Good health habits may not be the gang's way but for bright eyes, hair and skin and a lot of pep, take care of yourself. Complexion problems plague most teen-agers. Many irritate the situation by ignoring daily use of soap and water. They also stuff themselves with gooey desserts and not enough fresh fruits and vegetables.

Nylon will stay "white" longer if it is washed frequently and thoroughly. Also, rinse two or three times before hanging to drip dry.

With The Girl Scouts

Registration for summer camping at the three Girl Scout camps in the Council area closed on Friday. Nearly 500 girls are enrolled with one adult for each eight girls serving as a camp leader. Mrs. Alex Jones, Camp Director, and members of the Camp committee of the Board of Directors are busy with last minute plans. Nourishing meals are planned with the girls helping to prepare the appetizing menus. Overnight campers will enjoy grilled chicken for one meal and ham baked in foil in coals for another. Day campers will taste pigs in blankets, goldminer's stew and fried pies as part of their campsite fare.

These names were omitted last week in the list of girls who won camperships and other prizes for selling cookies:

Kathleen Mudd of Brownie Troop No. 98 of Jefferson school was the only Brownie to win a campership. She sold 105 boxes. Mary Beth Schindler of Intermediate Troop No. 18 at Our Saviour's also was awarded a campership.

Karen Rodgers of Intermediate Troop No. 57 of Winchester received a flashlight for selling over 80 boxes as did Carmen Quinlan of Troop No. 18.

Jackknives were awarded to Peggy Maddox and Alice Henderson of Intermediate Troop No. 63 of Lafayette school and to Nancy Knepler, Barbara Curtis and Jean Sorge of Troop No. 18. They all sold over 60 boxes of cookies.

Overnight Trip

Many troops are holding overnights these days to get in practice for summer camping. Troop No. 24 of Lincoln school, Mrs. Glenn Gross leader, spent last weekend at New Salem park, staying overnight Saturday and returning home Sunday noon. While there they met Girl Scouts from Iowa and other places in Illinois. They hiked and took the guided tour of the park. Movies were taken to be shown at later troop meetings. Mrs. T. R. Howe, Jr., also accompanied the girls. They had a wonderful time.

Girls of Troop No. 81 visited the Scout office last week to see the art exhibit of the "Picture Your Home Frontier" art contest.

Intermediate Troop No. 57 of Winchester spent this weekend at Camp Shagbark on Lake Jacksonville. Fifteen girls spent the night at the Scout cabin and practiced their cooking skills over campfires. Accompanying the girls were Mrs. Albert Herring, troop leader, Mrs. Marie Glover, Mrs. Mary Beth Buhlig and Mrs. Betty Blackburn.

Members of Troop No. 24 recently visited the Carter farm and spent a delightful afternoon touring the farm and seeing all kinds of farm animals, especially the young chicks, lambs and pigs. Kathy Witham sent in the report about the trip.

Troop No. 18 of Our Saviour's school, Mrs. Mary Curtis leader, is undertaking a huge "Litterbug Chase" and this week will be handing out paper bags with an explanatory sheet asking everyone to cooperate in removing litter from our streets and public grounds in addition to using the bags in cars to prevent littering the highways. The troop is to be commended for undertaking this vital community service.

Court of Awards

An impressive court of awards ceremony for Girl Scout troops of South Jacksonville school was held Tuesday evening at the school. Mrs. C. A. Dawson was in charge. To open the session, when the stage curtains were parted, all 98 girls who are in Girl Scouting were grouped on the stage and took part in the flag ceremony, giving the pledge. Beavers were Mari Sue Wallace, Nancy Dawson, Becky Massey and Stephanie Fulkerson. Guards were Barbara Plummer, Caroldean Flynn, Janet Hedrick and Kathy Witham. After the repeating of the Girl Scout promise, they sang "Whene'er You Make a Promise."

Certificates were presented to the four girls who received awards for selling cookies: camperships to Peggy Sullivan, Wilmar Losch and Carolyn Flynn; a jackknife to Meri Sue Wallace.

Mention was made that Brownies and Girl Scouts receive year pins depending on when the troop was organized. Recently Troop No. 23, 41 and 16 received their membership stars in other ceremonies.

Mrs. Robert Hartman executive director, was present and spoke briefly of Girl Scouting. She presented badges to Intermediate Scouts and 2nd class badges to members of Troops No. 75 and No. 27. Cake and punch was served during the social hour.

Two days of camp training were held this past week in Greene county. On Thursday, 14 adults attended training sessions at Robin Hood camp in Carrollton.

Friday the sessions were held at Lions Park in White Hall with 18 camp volunteer leaders attending. Mrs. Darrell Roegge is the trainer. She was assisted by Mrs. Hartman. Next week, on Tuesday May 19, training will be given at Camp Shagbark for Brownie leaders and on Thursday, May 21, at Camp Shagbark for Intermediate leaders.

Congratulations to everybody! The last boxes of cookies left the Scout office on Friday. The cookie sale this year was a complete sell-out!

Nurses and those who wear white uniforms on the job can keep them sparkling with a heavy-duty soap. Soap is recommended rather than detergents because it helps preserve antistatic finishes present on most white nylon uniforms. Use a water softener when using soap, though, so soap suds won't discolor the uniform.

New Berlin Woman's Club Closes Year At Luncheon

NEW BERLIN — The '58-'59 year for the New Berlin Woman's Club was brought to a close Saturday with the highlight of the year the annual Spring Luncheon. The event was held in the Sangamon county fairgrounds building, New Berlin, with 88 members and guests served at the 12:30 luncheon, following the invocation by Mrs. A. J. Buelt-mann, of Mokena, Ill., who recently moved from New Berlin.

Mrs. Robert Pfeffer, program chairman, presided for the afternoon. All guests present were introduced, and Mrs. W. K. Dunlap, president, thanked all committees for working so diligently to make the club year a success.

Mrs. Glen Wichterman, sponsor for the Future Nurses Club, presented the FNC with the trophy awarded by the Medical Auxiliary of Sangamon county for the outstanding work. This is the third year the FNC has been named the outstanding group of the county, and are now permanent owners of the traveling trophy.

Mrs. Woodrow Marr, youth program chairman, gave a very interesting account of the local youth organization, "Teensters Union No. 16," and of the experiences of the delegates from the group to a state meet in Chicago. The report of the local delegates was named unique in asmuch as the local organizations sponsoring this youth group undertook the youth situation before delinquency had developed.

Mrs. Pfeffer introduced Mr. and Mrs. Romaine Proctor of Springfield who presented the program for the afternoon. The Proctors are internationally known puppeteers and entertained the club with demonstrations of various types of puppets, from the original antique shadow puppets to the very modern. They displayed a large variety from their varied collection, for inspection by the group.

The luncheon tables were colorfully decorated in purple and white spring flowers. The luncheon was served by the Woman's Society of the Island Grove Methodist church.

The committees in charge of the luncheon were, program, Mrs. Robert Pfeffer, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harold Engelhart and Mrs. Alvin Lovekamp; arrangements, Mrs. Elmer Carriger, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Louis Kloppe, Mrs. Lee Frank and Mrs. Oliver Schelp; reservations, Mrs. Virgil Long and Mrs. M. B. Summers.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held the first Friday in September.

CARROLLTON BOY WINS PRIZE AT PROJECT FAIR

CARROLLTON—Gene Wade of the Carrollton Community Unit high school won second prize in leather crafts at the annual Projects Fair held recently in Macomb. The fair is sponsored by the Western Illinois University Industrial Arts Club and has entries from schools all over the central part of the state.

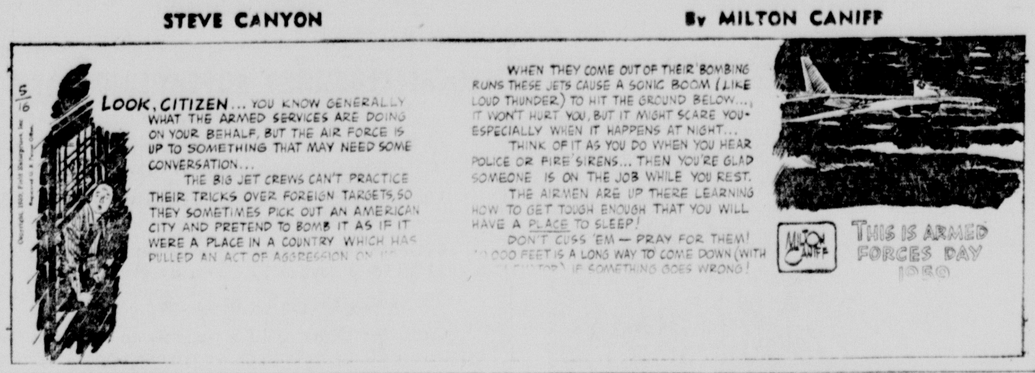

Wade's prize winning entry was a leather purse which he made in the Industrial Arts Department of the local high school. His award was a silver pin.

Caritas Mother-Daughter Banquet Thursday, May 7

Mothers, daughters and members of Caritas Rebekah Lodge 625 gathered at the IOOF hall on West State street for a potluck dinner at 6:30 Thursday evening, May 7. The dinner was served by refreshment chairman Mable Bolton and her assistants, Dona Seeman and Margaret Deegan.

The dining tables were decorated with spring colors of crepe paper rolls and May baskets. Each mother was presented a potted plant.

In an altar ceremony, Ruthie Hoover and Maude Foote presented to the Lodge a set of silver offering cups from Robert Knowles in memory of his mother, Mrs. Flora Knowles.

Nan Milburn introduced Wanda and Lyle Lowe of the Lowe Dance Studios who presented a program of music and dance.

Song, "Rock My Baby," Ricky Lowe; "Isn't It Romantic," Karen Watkins; toe acrobatic dance by Cheri Lowe; song and dance, "Pink Shoe Laces," Nancy Hart of Waverly.

"Rythm Taplowe," Mike Tobin; "Blue Mirage Adigo," Karen Watkins and Mike Tobin; "Hold Me," Sandra and Steven Lowe; "Little Blue Man," Nancy Hart.

"Oh Rhythm Tap," Shirley Seeman and Peggy Keehner; "Oh Johnnie, Ain't We Got Fun," Sharon and Ricky Lowe.

SLOW DOWN AND PROSPER—In Columbia, Mo., two horses have won their battle with the tractor. They belong to farmer Walter Harris, right, who uses the team to plant corn. His son, Walter Harris Jr., left, uses a tractor to get the ground ready. Explained the elder Harris: "Fast planting with a tractor leaves a lot of skips." Officials of the Missouri Farmers Assn. point out that recent winners of the statewide corn-growing contest took their time. One winner kept his speed down to three miles an hour while planting his 185-bushel-an-acre field.

Furlong found the corral gate and stood beside it. Presently observing a faint sliver of lamplight that showed in faulty chinking on the cabin's wall, he thought: Soon.

But he stood there, tightly expectant, for 10 minutes, then another 10, and no one came out to feed the ponies.

Smoke smell came to him, and he guessed that breakfast was being cooked, but still no one left the cabin. Hugely puzzled, Furlong sought for an explanation and could find none.

It was light enough now so that he could see the ponies in the corral. They hadn't been fed. They stood there waiting expectantly.

Furlong moved away from the gate, choosing a woodpile near the haystack for concealment. The sky was clear this morning; there would be sunlight within half an hour. He was waiting behind the shoulder high stack of firewood when a man came from the cabin—a man he identified at once as Clee Veto.

Furlong waited until Veto reached for the pitchfork. Then he stepped out and said, "Veto."

It was characteristic of Empire's foreman that he revealed no surprise in the way he turned and drew his hand from the pitchfork handle as if deciding against using it. His voice was devoid of emotion or excitement when he said, "So it's you."

Furlong wondered if the men in the cabin could hear their voices. Impatient to have this settled, he said, "I told you I'd have a gun next time, remember?"

Veto nodded. His mackinaw was unbuttoned, his right hand within three inches of his holstered pistol.

"Well, I've got one," Furlong said.

But instead of grabbing for his gun, Empire's foreman turned deliberately and reached for the pitchfork. "Maybe this isn't the day for it," he said flatly.

"Oh yes, it is," Furlong insisted, and saw a blur of motion as Veto's hand darted to holster.

The lathy man made a fast draw, his bullet smashing into the woodpile at Furlong's shoulder before Furlong fired. Veto whirled in a half turn, propelled by the impact of a bullet that caught him high in the chest, and fired one wild shot as he fought for balance.

Taking deliberate aim at that thin target, Furlong fired again, and seeing the way Veto went down, knew he was watching a dead man fall.

Furlong backtracked around the woodpile, expecting to see Veto's companions charge from the cabin. But no one came out, and now Furlong noticed something. Only one riding saddle hung on the corral fence—the other two were pack saddles. Veto had come here alone, with two led ponies.

• • •

Fern was in front of the barn, cinching a saddle on the bald-faced sorrel. She turned at the sound of his pony's travel and said urgently: "Jim—I was just starting out to look for you!"

That made no sense to him, nor did the animation in her face.

"You look like you'd inherited $700," he said.

"I've just heard good news—wonderful news," Fern said.

"Secret?"

Fern shook her head. "You'll scarcely believe it," she warned.

Then, as if it couldn't be told fast enough, she said, "Empire is licked, Jim. Your raids have put Jules Pardee out of business. He let the whole crew go the day before Christmas. All of them, including Veto and the cook. A Tucson bank has taken over everything except the original homestead, and Edith Pardee has gone back to share that with him."

Furlong asked disbelievingly, "You mean Pardee loses all those cattle—all that range? Who told you?"

"Grace Kimble. She thought you might be here, and wanted you to know. She said to tell you she's sorry for what happened that last night."

Furlong shrugged, not caring about it. He asked, "Where's Mace and Clay?"

"Gone to town to buy a team and some provisions. Mace can't wait to get his cabin finished."

Furlong was tempted to ask if that was when they were going to be married, but decided it was none of his business.

"You'll be building a cabin also," Fern said. "And now there'll be no fear of having it burned down."

"Not by Clee Veto," Furlong said. "I killed him this morning."

• • •

Fern studied him for a moment before asking, "Why don't you stay for supper?"

"Because I haven't been invited."

That explanation altered her expression instantly. For the first time he saw something close to anger in Fern's face and in her eyes. There was a plain note of resentment in her voice as she insisted: "You know better than that, Jim Furlong!"

As he dismounted she said accusingly: "If ever a man had reason to know he was welcome, you have."

And then, as if abashed by such boldness, she blushed like a school girl.

The blush, and a misty shine of unshed tears in her eyes, did something to Jim Furlong. Something that prompted him to reach out and take her in his arms, to say gently, "Fern, honey, I thought—"

Her lips silenced him. And the pressure of her arms told him how wrong he had been.

A reader from Montana writes: "The six of clubs was opened and our opponents had five tricks in the bag quicker than you could say 'Jack Robinson.' Needless to say four hearts was a lay down and I wonder what was wrong with our bidding?

"Should North have gone to four hearts by himself with two suits unstopped? Should South have bid three hearts rather than three no-trump?"

The answer to both his questions is, No. North should have passed to three no-trump and South should not have bid three hearts.

South had a much better bid at his disposal over North's three diamonds. He should have bid three spades.

This bid could not be read as showing a spade suit. South had not bid one spade over one heart. It could not be read as a slam try. South had merely bid one no-trump. It would simply say, "Partner, I don't want to raise hearts or rebid diamonds and I am afraid of the club suit at no-trump."

With that information North would have bid four hearts and I would have had no letter.

What do you do?

A—Bid seven diamonds. Your partner has shown that your side has all the aces and there is no reason why you should not bid the grand slam yourself since you have such a strong spade suit.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

We've been hearing a lot about using various kinds of monkeys to test some of our space rockets . . . and the first visitor to the moon may be a refugee from an organ grinder. We also hear of an ex-Yale professor who is experimenting with three young apes. He is trying to teach them to talk, and he's as confident as a lifeguard in a bath tub. Maybe this is a good idea . . . but I don't know. If the apes learn to talk, perhaps other animals will, too . . . and what'll happen to humans? We don't want the family dog correcting our grammar when we tell him to "Lay down!", and we'd hate to have the family cat asking for a little catsup on its liver. If the apes talk we may even have some big baboon runing for office some day. Do you have to do it, Professor?

When a San Francisco fellow was kissing his girl goodnight his car rolled downhill and crashed into a parked car. Apparently something wrong with the clutch. You're sure to be right when you select a used car from our large stock of late model trade-ins. Our mechanics carefully and thoroughly check each car and put it in top condition before it is put on our used car lot. This is why each car carries a guarantee you can depend on.
